The Fiftieth Gate A Journey Through Memory:

The Fiftieth Gate Mark Raphael Baker, 2017-07-03 What right did I possess as a child of survivors to recreate an account of the Holocaust as if I was there In writing The Fiftieth Gate Mark Baker describes a journey from despair and death towards hope and life it is the story of a son who enters his parents memories and inside the darkness finds light In his evocative prose Baker takes us to this place of horror and then brings us back to reflect on these events and remember Never again Across the silence of fifty years Baker and his family travel from Poland and Germany to Jerusalem and Melbourne as the author struggles to uncover the mystery of his parents survival his father Yossel was imprisoned in concentration camps and his mother Genia was forced into hiding after the Jews of her village were murdered Twenty years on from its first publication The Fiftieth Gate remains an extraordinary book It has become a classic and has now sold over 70 000 copies In Baker s new introduction he recalls his motivations for writing this important memoir and highlights how the testimonial culture in Holocaust studies has spread to awareness of other genocides and our responsibility and failure to prevent them As well as The Fiftieth Gate A Journey Through Memory a seminal book on his parents experience during the Holocaust Mark Raphael Baker wrote a compelling memoir Thirty Days A Journey to the End of Love about the death of his wife He was Director of the Australian Centre for Jewish Civilisation and Associate Professor of Holocaust and Genocide Studies in the School at Monash University Melbourne He died in 2023 Heartrending and beautiful This simply written subtly complex narrative is instantly recognisable as a masterpiece and the reader is rewarded by the light it sheds Age Combining precise historical research and poetic eloquence Mark Baker s The Fiftieth Gate remains the gold standard of second generation Holocaust memoirs on the occasion of its twentieth anniversary edition Christopher R Browning Baker does with memory what Rembrandt does with light He uses it to model to imagine to illuminate to astonish Philip Adams The Fiftieth Gate Mark Raphael Baker, Rachel Palgan, 2004 Memory Work Nina Fischer, 2015-09-27 Memory Work studies how Jewish children of Holocaust survivors from the English speaking diaspora explore the past in literary texts By identifying areas where memory manifests Objects Names Bodies Food Passover 9 11 it shows how the Second Generation engage with the pre Holocaust family and their parents survival Reluctant Witnesses Arlene Stein, 2014-08-04 Americans now learn about the Holocaust in high school watch films about it on television and visit museums dedicated to preserving its memory But for the first two decades following the end of World War II discussion of the destruction of European Jewry was largely absent from American culture and the tragedy of the Holocaust was generally seen as irrelevant to non Jewish Americans Today the Holocaust is widely recognized as a universal moral touchstone In Reluctant Witnesses sociologist Arlene Stein herself the daughter of a Holocaust survivor mixes memoir history and sociological analysis to tell the story of the rise of Holocaust consciousness in the United States from the perspective of survivors and their descendants If survivors tended to see Holocaust storytelling as mainly a private affair their children who reached adulthood during the heyday of identity politics reclaimed their hidden family histories and transformed them into public stories Reluctant Witnesses documents how a group of people who had previously been unrecognized and misunderstood managed to find its voice It tells this story in relation to the changing status of trauma and victimhood in American culture At a time when a sense of Holocaust fatigue seems to be setting in and when the remaining survivors are at the end of their lives it affirms that confronting traumatic memories and catastrophic histories can help us make our world mean something beyond ourselves
