This book will be of interest to a broad range of disciplines including psychology, child development, early childhood education, social work, pediatrics, nursing, child psychiatry, physical and occupational therapy, speech and language pathology, and social policy. It is the domain where adult mental health meets infant development. Beginning in pregnancy, parenting involves many conscious and unconscious processes which have recently been shown to affect a child's development significantly. This book focuses on pregnancy and the first year of life, providing a thorough account of the points of encounter between adult and infant psychiatry. In a fresh and comprehensive way, it summarises knowledge about early parenting, including a critical analysis of parenting, what it means to be a good enough parent, and its relationship to infant, parent, and family outcomes. In addition to the psychiatric dimension, the book emphasises the biological aspects of parenting, parental psychopathology, and normal and abnormal infant development. Praise for Parenting and Mental Health Tyano, Keren, Herrman, and Cox have edited a thoughtfully prepared guide on normal and abnormal parenting. They have, with enormous skill and wisdom, helped to unite the important aspects of pregnancy, infant and childhood development and parenting for adult and child and adolescent psychiatrists World class internationally recognized clinicians and researchers help make this book useful throughout the world This is a masterful culturally sensitive and important book which provides a long overdue and much needed guide on relationships among children parents and families Michelle Riba M D M S Professor and Associate Chair for Integrated Medical and Psychiatric Services Department of Psychiatry University of Michigan USA During recent decades progress in the field of infant mental health has been revolutionary at the same time there has been rapid development in women s mental health By bringing these two together this pioneering book leads its readers to the vital new focal point around perinatal mental health The book integrates the origins of developmental psychiatry in attachment and systemic contexts and shows concretely how relationship experiences and biology interact when new life begins After describing the fascinating world of early parenting the book focuses on problems difficulties and disorders during this phase of life and above all on how to support intervene and treat disorders in parenting When infants mothers and fathers are understood in a holistic way professionals in many fields will be able to promote the transmission of meaningful life through parenthood and parenting Tuula Tamminen Professor of Child Psychiatry University of Tampere Finland Past President of World Association for Infant Mental Health President of European Society for Child and Adolescent Psychiatry Cover design by Reouth Keren The ^AOxford Handbook of Infant, Toddler, and Preschool Mental Health Assessment Rebecca DelCarmen-Wiggins,Alice S. Difficult Mothers:

Understanding and Overcoming Their Power Terri Apter, 2012-05-07 An essential work for readers seeking compassionate wise guidance about the powerful relationship between mothers and their sons and daughters Mother love is often seen as sacred but for many children the relationship is a painful struggle Using the newest research on human attachment and brain development Terri Apter an internationally acclaimed psychologist and writer unlocks the mysteries of this complicated bond She showcases the five different types of difficult mother the angry mother the controlling mother the narcissistic mother the envious mother and the emotionally neglectful mother and explains the patterns of behavior seen in each type Apter also explores the dilemma at the heart of a difficult relationship why a mother has such a powerful impact on us and why we continue to care about her responses long after we have outgrown our dependence She then shows how we can conduct an emotional audit on ourselves to overcome the power of the complex feelings a difficult mother inflicts In the end this book celebrates the great resilience of sons and daughters of difficult mothers as well as acknowledging their special challenges

Revealing the Inner Worlds of Young Children Robert N. Emde, Dennis P. Wolf, David Oppenheim, 2003-09-25 This book reports the work of a 20 year collaboration between a multidisciplinary group of clinicians and developmental scientists who have created and investigated a new tool to elicit and analyze children's narratives This tool is the MacArthur Story Stem Battery a systematic collection of story beginnings that are referred to as stems These stems are designed to elicit information from children about their representational worlds This method is particularly exciting because using it allows developmental psychologists and others to gain information directly from children about their emotional states and what they are able to understand and in turn to use this information to explore significant emotional differences among children This work will appeal to researchers and practitioners in developmental and clinical psychology

Handbook of Social Development Vincent B. Van Hasselt, Michel Hersen, 2013-11-11 Social development over one's lifetime is a complex area that has received considerable attention in the psychological social psychological and sociological literature over the years Surprisingly however since 1969 when Rand McNally published Goslin's Handbook of Socialization no comprehensive statement of the field has appeared in book form Given the impressive data in this area that have been adduced over the last two decades we trust that our handbook will serve to fill that gap In this volume we have followed a lifespan perspective starting with the social interactions that transpire in the earliest development stages and progressing through childhood adolescence adulthood and finally one's senior years In so doing we cover a variety of issues in depth The book contains 21 chapters and is divided into five parts I Theoretical Perspectives II Infants and Toddlers III Children and Adolescents IV Adults and V The Elderly Each of the parts begins with introductory material that reviews the overall issues to be considered Many individuals have contributed to the final production of this handbook Foremost are our eminent contributors who graciously agreed to share with us their expertise We also thank our administrative and technical staff for their assistance in carrying out the day to day tasks necessary to complete such a project Finally we thank Eliot Werner Executive Editor at Plenum for his willingness to publish and for his tolerance for the delays inevitable in the development of a large handbook

September 11 Susan Coates, Jane Rosenthal, Daniel Schechter, 2013-05-13

Drawing on research from a variety of domains: clinical studies of trauma, developmental psychopathology, interpersonal psychobiology, epidemiology and social policy, September 11: Trauma and Human Bonds addresses especially the fundamental relationship of human bonds to trauma and underscores the manner in which developments in all these fields are coming together in complementary ways that sustain a key finding: that trauma must be understood in its relational and attachment contexts. The quality of early emotional attachments, differences in attachment styles to family milieus and the psychological qualities that enable traumatized parents to avoid traumatizing their children are among the topics through which these contexts are explored. From their various disciplinary vantage points, the contributions converge to show how human relationships can either provide an anodyne to trauma or serve as the vehicle of its transmission. As Susan Coates observes, a major legacy of 9/11 is the realization that there are no simple truths in the world of trauma studies: no easy to remember anodynes or pharmacologic magic bullets or depth psychological schematizations that will hold true for a majority or even a sizable minority of cases. Yet in delineating the multiple connections between human relations and trauma and in elaborating these connections from multiple disciplinary perspectives, the contributors to September 11 have taken a decisive first step to consolidate new knowledge about trauma and to demonstrate how it can assist clinicians who encounter diverse responses to trauma in their day to day work. A sobering reminder of shared human vulnerability in the face of devastating events, September 11 is also a heartening reminder of resiliency in the face of overwhelming loss and of the healing potential of human connection.
