Six Screenplays:

Six Screenplays Robert Riskin, 1997 Screenwriter Robert Riskin 1897 1955 was a towering figure even among the giants of Hollywood's Golden Age. Known for his unique blend of humor and romance, wisecracking and idealism, Riskin teamed with director Frank Capra to produce some of his most memorable films: Pat McGilligan (1931), Platinum Blonde (1931), American Madness (1932), It Happened One Night (1934), Mr. Deeds Goes to Town (1936), Lost Horizon (1937), and Meet John Doe (1941). All of them were directed by Capra, and although Capra's work has been amply chronicled and celebrated, Riskin's share in the collaboration has been overlooked since his death. McGilligan provides the backstory for the forgotten half of the team, an indispensable counterpoint to the director's self-mythologizing autobiography and incidentally the missing link in any study of Capra's career. Riskin's own career, although interrupted by patriotic duty and cut short by personal tragedy, produced as consistent, entertaining, thoughtful, and enduring a body of work as any Hollywood writer's. Those who know and love these vintage films will treasure these scripts. McGilligan's introduction offers new information and insights for fans, scholars, and general readers.

Because screenwriter Robert Riskin 1897 1955 spent most of his career collaborating with legendary Hollywood director Frank Capra, his own unique contributions to film have been largely overshadowed. With five Academy Award nominations to his credit for the monumental films Lady for a Day, Mr. Deeds Goes to Town, You Can't Take It with You, Here Comes the Groom, and It Happened One Night for which he won an Oscar, Riskin is often imitated but rarely equaled. Robert Riskin: The Life and Times of a Hollywood Screenwriter is the first detailed critical examination of the Hollywood pioneer's life and work. In addition to being one of the great screenwriters of the classic Hollywood era, Riskin was also a producer and director, founding his own film company and playing a crucial role in the foundation of the Screen Writers Guild. During World War II, Riskin was one of the major forces behind propaganda filmmaking. He worked in the Office of War Information and oversaw the distribution and later production of films and documentaries in foreign theaters. He was interested in showing the rest of the world more than just an idealized version of America; he looked for films that emphasized the spiritual and cultural vibrancy within the United States, making charity, faith, and generosity of spirit his propaganda tools. His efforts also laid the groundwork for a system of distribution channels that would result in the dominance of American cinema in Europe in the postwar years. Author Ian Scott provides a unique perspective on Riskin and the ways in which his brilliant, pithy style was realized in Capra's enduring films. Riskin's impact on cinema extended far beyond these films as he articulated his vision of a changing America and helped spread Hollywood cinema abroad.

The Modernist Screenplay Alexandra Ksenofontova, 2020-10-02 The Modernist Screenplay explores the film screenplay as a genre of modernist literature. It connects the history of screenwriting for silent film to the history of literary modernism in France.

Germany and Russia At the same time the book considers how the screenplay responded to the modernist crisis of reason confronted mimetic representation and sought to overcome the modernist mistrust of language with the help of rhythm From the silent film projects of Bertolt Brecht to the screenwriting of Sergei Eisenstein and the poetic scripts of the surrealists The Modernist Screenplay offers a new angle on the relationship between film and literature Based on the example of modernist screenwriting the book proposes a pluralistic approach to screenplays an approach that sees film scripts both as texts embedded in film production and as literary works in their own right As a result the sheer variety of different and experimental ways to tell stories in screenplays comes to light The Modernist Screenplay explores how the earliest kind of experimental screenplays the modernist screenplays challenged normative ideas about the nature of filmmaking the nature of literary writing and the borders between the two

The Screenwriter in British Cinema Jill Nelmes, 2019-07-25 Though screenwriting is an essential part of the film production process in Britain it is yet to be fully recognised as a form in itself In this original study Jill Nelmes brings the art of screenwriting into sharp focus foregrounding the role of the screenwriter in British cinema from the 1930s to the present day Drawing on otherwise unseen drafts of screenplays correspondence and related material held in the Special Collections of the BFI National Archive Nelmes's close textual analysis of the screenplay in its many forms illuminates both the writing and the production process With case studies of a diverse range of key writers from individuals such as Muriel Box Robert Bolt and Paul Laverty to teams such as the Carry On writers Nelmes exposes the depth and breadth of this thriving field
