The Complete Home Learning Sourcebook Rebecca Rupp,1998 Lists all the resources needed to create a balanced curriculum for homeschooling from preschool to high school level Society and the Official World John A. Denton,1990 To find more information about Rowman and Littlefield titles please visit www.rowmanlittlefield.com Home Schooling Jane Van Galen,Mary Anne Pitman,1991-01-01 This significant volume studies the growing body of research on home education and offers a broad analysis of this movement Introductory chapters present the most current information on the demographics of the movement and on the social and academic outcomes of home education Beyond these data the broader implications of the movement are considered in chapters discussing legal issues and policy analysis Additional chapters provide historical and sociological analysis of the conflicts between parents and schools that often precipitate the decision to home school The volume ends with an anthropological analysis of learning in the informal home setting and a philosophical critique of the movement as an abandonment of a belief in the efficacy of common schooling Free Schools, Free People Ron Miller,2002-07-17 The first historical account of the free school movement of the 1960s Intrinsic Motivation and Self-Determination in Human Behavior Edward L. Deci,Richard M. Ryan,2013-06-29 Early in this century most empirically oriented psychologists believed that all motivation was based in the physiology of a set of non nervous system tissue needs The theories of that era reflected this belief and used it in an attempt to explain an increasing number of phenomena It was not until the 1950s that it became irrefutably clear that much of human motivation is based not in these drives but rather in a set of innate psychological needs Their physiological basis is less understood and as concepts these needs lend themselves more easily to psycho logical than to physiological theorizing The convergence of evidence from a variety of scholarly efforts suggests that there are three such needs self determination competence and interpersonal relatedness This book is primarily about self determination and competence with particular emphasis on the former and about the processes and structures that relate to these needs The need for interpersonal relatedness while no less important remains to be explored and the findings from those explorations will need to be integrated with the present theory to develop a broad organismic theory of human motivation Thus far we have articulated self determination theory which is offered as a working theory a theory in the making To stimulate the research that will allow it to evolve further we have stated self determination theory in the form of minitheories that relate to more circumscribed domains and we have developed paradigms for testing predictions from the various minitheories Social Purpose and Schooling Jerry Paquette, 2017-05-08

First published in 1991 this work critically analyses the competing claims about alternative arrangements for schooling It does so in light of major popularly understood agendas for social and political purpose and of the troubled and much less clearly understood assumptions and issues behind them The book examines closely four generic types of arrangements for schooling in light of a comprehensive framework for understanding the publicness or privateness of schools and the relationships between social and educational purpose The book poses key questions about the meaning and purpose of schooling in the rapidly evolving social demographic and technological realities of the time It also probes fundamental assumptions values and beliefs behind educational and public policy making In doing so it offers a way to make sense of unorthodox arrangements for the provision and funding of schools Homeschool M. Gaither, 2016-04-30 This is a lively account of one of the most important and overlooked themes in American education Beginning in the colonial period and working to the present Gaither describes in rich detail how the home has been used as the base for education of all kinds The last five chapters focus especially on the modern homeschooling movement and offer the most comprehensive and authoritative account of it ever written Readers will learn how and why homeschooling emerged when it did where it has been and where it may be going Please visit Gaither's blog here <http://gaither.wordpress.com/homeschool-an-american-history>

John Dewey's Great Debates - Reconstructed Shane Ralston, 2011-11-01 Confirming his moniker as America's philosopher of democracy John Dewey engaged in a series of public debates over the course of his lifetime vividly demonstrating how his thought translates into action These debates made Dewey a household name and a renowned public intellectual during the early to mid twentieth century a time when the United States fought two World Wars struggled through an economic depression experienced explosive economic growth and spawned a grassroots movement that characterized an entire era Progressivism Unfortunately much recent Dewey scholarship neglects to situate Dewey's ideas in the broader context of his activities and engagements as a public intellectual This project charts a path through two of Dewey's actual debates with his contemporaries Leon Trotsky and Robert Hutchins to two reconstructed debates with contemporary intellectuals E D Hirsch and Robert Talisse both of whom criticized Dewey's ideas long after the American philosopher's death and finally to two recent debates one on home schooling and the other on U S foreign policy in which Dewey's ideas offer a unique and

Substance Abuse as Symptom Louis S. Berger, 2013-05-13 What can psychoanalysis contribute to an understanding of the etiology treatment and prevention of substance abuse Here Louis Berger contests both the orthodox view of substance abuse as a disease explicable within the medical model and the fashionable dissenting view that substance abuse is a habit controllable through the willpower fostered by superficial treatment approaches According to Berger substance abuse is first and foremost a symptom He argues that it is only by grasping this fact that we can understand why standard approaches to treatment and prevention have failed Berger invokes a wide spectrum of recent analytic insights about infant and child development the psychology of narcissism and primitive character disorders in making the case that substance abuse masks serious preoedipal or midrange psychopathology Such psychopathology operating at both cultural and person levels explains why certain individuals become dependent on illicit drugs it is equally revelatory of why the substance abuse establishment and society at large continues to misconstrue the nature of the problem and to proffer ill conceived and ineffective remedies After thoroughly examining the motives conscious and unconscious that maintain mainstream myths about substance abuse Berger points the way to alternative approaches to prevention and treatment
