has ever yearned to master a new language Fifty Sounds is a visionary personal account and an indispensable resource for learning to think beyond your mother tongue The language learning I want to talk about is sensory bombardment It is a possession a bedevilment a physical takeover writes Polly Barton in her eloquent treatise on this profoundly humbling and gratifying act Shortly before graduating with a degree in philosophy from the University of Cambridge Barton on a whim accepted an English teaching position in Japan With the characteristic ambivalence of a twenty one year old whose summer and life stretched out almost infinitely before her she moved to a remote island in the Sea of Japan unaware that this journey would come to define not only her career but her very understanding of her own identity Divided into fifty onomatopoeic Japanese phrases Fifty Sounds recounts Barton s path to becoming a literary translator fluent in an incredibly difficult vernacular From min min the sound of air screaming to jin jin the sound of being touched for the first time Barton analyzes these and countless other foreign sounds and phrases as a means of reflecting on various cultural attitudes including the nuances of conformity and the challenges of being an outsider in what many consider a hermetically sealed society In a tour de force of lyrical playful prose Barton recalls the stifling humidity that first greeted her on the island along with the incessant hum of peculiar new noises As Barton taught English to inquisitive middle school children she studied the basics of Japanese in an inverse way beginning with simple nouns and phrases such as cat dog and Hello my name is But when it came to surrounding herself in the culture simply mastering the basics wasn t enough Japanese Barton learned has three scripts the phonetic katakana and hiragana collectively known as kana and kanji characters of Chinese origin Despite her months long immersion in the language a word would occasionally produce a sinking feeling and send her sifting through her dictionaries to find the exact meaning But this is precisely how Barton has come to define language learning It is the always bruised but ever renewing desire to draw close to a person a territory a culture an idea an indefinable feeling Engaging and penetrating Fifty Sounds chronicles everything from Barton s most hilarious misinterpretations to her new friends and lovers in Tokyo and even the influence of Ludwig Wittgenstein s transformative philosophy A classic in the making in the tradition of Anne Carson and Rachel Cusk Fifty Sounds is a celebration of the empowering act of learning to communicate in any new language

International Handbook of Lifelong Learning David N. Aspin, Judith Chapman, Michael Hatton, Yukiko Sawano, 2012-12-06 Recent changes in the world effected by the transformations of information technology globalisation and the move towards a knowledge economy over the last thirty years have been as radical and fundamental as the changes resulting from the invention of the wheel and the printing press We are now living in a new age in which the demands are so complex so multifarious and so rapidly changing that the only way in which we shall be able to survive them is by committing to a process of individual communal and global learning throughout the lifespan of all of us A number of international bodies and agencies have taken cognisance of these transformations and the demands they impose upon societies and communities of the twenty first century and have developed and articulated policies intended to enable all citizens of the world in the twenty first century to face these challenges It is now a declared policy of many governments and international agencies that the only vehicle for such preparation is education education education and that preparing for the knowledge economy and the learning society of the future has to be a lifelong undertaking an investment in the future that is not restricted merely to the domain of economic advancement but also to those of social inclusion and personal growth Realising this policy makers across the international arena are grappling with the need to move from systems that emphasise education and training to the radically more unworked construct of lifelong learning In this volume the editors and authors analyse criticise and rework the ideas principles and theories underpinning policies and programs of lifelong learning re interpreting them in the light of examples of best practice found in a range of educating institutions around the world We believe that students of educational change and community development will find it useful and helpful to have available in this volumesome of the most up to date thinking on the chief concepts theories and values of increasing policy interest in lifelong learning together with a review of some significant examples of the different forms focuses and nexuses of thought and practice on this topic All this enables us to offer some policy recommendations and practical suggestions as to ways forward in the endeavour to make lifelong learning a reality for all

A Transdisciplinary Approach to Chinese and Japanese Language Teaching Nobuko Chikamatsu, Li Jin, 2023-03-31 A Transdisciplinary Approach to Chinese and Japanese Language Teaching illustrates how the transdisciplinary approach to second language acquisition SLA centers around collaboration to provide a learning conducive environment with rich semiotic resources for second foreign language learners The volume consists of 14 chapters from leading experts in SLA and Chinese and Japanese language educators from Canada China Japan the United Kingdom and the United States of America As a first work of its kind the contributions feature both theoretical interpretations of transdisciplinary concepts that can apply to Chinese Japanese as a second language learning and case studies showcasing how college level Chinese and Japanese language educators design and implement pedagogical projects in collaboration with partners across languages disciplines communities and borders by adopting a transdisciplinary perspective to analyze students learning outcomes This book will benefit researchers administrators educators and teacher educators in higher education with an interest in world language education and interdisciplinary and project based teaching Rethinking Second Language Learning Marisa Cordella,Hui

Huang,2016-05-19 This book evaluates a project where formal classroom learning of a second language was supplemented with informal natural interactions with older native speakers of the target language delivering a number of pedagogical and societal benefits The authors introduce a model of intergenerational intercultural encounters which aims to promote the use of community language resources enrich the experiences of young learners foster greater understanding between generations break down cultural stereotypes encourage appreciation of different cultures and enhance the quality of life and community engagement of older people with a bi multilingual background It draws on theories of language acquisition discourse analysis and psychosocial perspectives to propose a model of language learning for students that can be used for any language or locality It is therefore an essential resource for graduate students researchers and language teachers as well as for education aged and youth care policy makers practitioners and community services workers who are interested in innovative language pedagogy Educational Progressivism, Cultural Encounters and Reform in Japan Yoko

Yamasaki,Hiroyuki Kuno,2017-06-26 Educational Progressivism Cultural Encounters and Reform in Japan provides a critical analysis of educational initiatives progressive ideas and developments in curriculum and pedagogy in Japan from 1900 to the present day Drawing on evidence of both cultural encounters and internal drivers for progressivism and reform this book re evaluates the history of Japanese education to help inform ongoing and future debates about education policy and practice worldwide With contributions from Japanese scholars specialising in the history and philosophy of education and curriculum studies chapters consider key collaborative improvements to teacher education as well as group learning life education the creative arts and writing and education for girls and women The book examines Western influences including John Dewey Carleton Washburne and A S Neill as well as Japan s own progressive exports such as holistic Zenjin education Children s Villages and Lesson Study highlighting cultural encounters and progressive initiatives at both transnational and national levels The chapters reflect on historical and political background motivations influences and the impact of Japanese progressive education They also stimulate through argument and critical discussion a continuing discourse concerning principles policy politics and practices of education in an increasingly globalised society A rigorous and critical study of the history of progressive education in Japan this book will interest an international readership of academics researchers and postgraduate students in the fields of progressive education comparative education social and cultural history history of education Japanese studies curriculum studies and the history of childhood Learning English and Chinese as Foreign Languages Wen-Chuan Lin, 2019-09-19 Learning English and Chinese is becoming increasingly important to the prospects of young people This book compares English as a Foreign Language teaching in Taiwan with Chinese as a Foreign Language education in England in order to highlight how classroom activities are embedded within multiple settings including ethnic or other social group cultures family and community resources and school visions or goals The book illustrates how in Taiwan different ethnic groups recognise access and value English language learning to varying extents Its findings illuminate why some ethnic groups are highly motivated to learn English and are able to gain privileged economic positions in the job market In England access to Chinese is marked by social class and the book argues that this could augment an educational apartheid that already exists in language teaching in secondary schools thereby exacerbating existing inequality

Learning Language and Culture Via Public Internet Discussion Forums B. Hanna, J. De Nooy, 2009-03-31 Public Internet discussion forums offer opportunities for intercultural interaction in many languages on a vast range of topics but are often overlooked by language educators in favour of purpose built exchanges between learners The book investigates this untapped pedagogical potential
