Teachers Guide To The Bluford Series:

Teacher's Guide to the Bluford Series Eliza A. Comodromos, 2004 Once Upon a Time in a Different World Neal A. Lester, 2010-06-21 This book offers a history and analysis of African American children's literature from its beginnings to the present. Chapters explore issues surrounding race and representation from the race and gender politics of African American hair to the absence of the N word in children's books Janet McDonald Catherine Ross-Stroud, 2008-11-24 Much has been written about the state of Black adolescence, often from a sociological point of view situating Black teens in an at-risk category. However, through her characters, young adult author Janet McDonald (1954-2007) presents the wide range of adolescent life. McDonald especially presents to readers the multifarious views of society in relation to the self-efficacious drive of urban teens to rise above their circumstances by any means necessary. Janet McDonald, The Original Project Girl is a bio-critical study of McDonald and her work as it relates to the contributions she has made to the genre of teen fiction. It explains McDonald's profoundly realistic fiction, which holds wide appeal for teens in search of answers to the coming-of-age mystery. Catherine Ross Stroud, in her study of McDonald's works and interviews with the author, has put together a comprehensive resource that will be a useful research tool Literacy Coaching Dale E. The Readers' Advisory Guide to Street Literature Vanessa Irvin Morris, 2012. Emphasizing an appreciation for street lit as a way to promote reading and library use. Morris's book helps library staff establish their street cred by giving them the information they need to provide knowledgeable guidance.

Fictions of Integration Naomi Lesley, 2017-03-03. This book examines how children's and young adult literature addresses and interrogates the legacies of American school desegregation. Such literature narrates not only the famous battles to implement desegregation in the South in places like Little Rock, Arkansas, but also more insidious and less visible legacies such as re-segregation within schools through the mechanism of disability diagnosis. Novelizations of children's experiences with school desegregation comment upon the politics of getting African American children access to white schools, but more than this, as school stories, they also comment upon how structural racism operates in the classroom and mutates over the course of decades through the pedagogical practices depicted in literature for young readers. Lesley combines approaches from critical race theory, disability studies, and educational philosophy in order to investigate how the educational market simultaneously constrains how racism in schools can be presented to young readers and also provides channels for radical critiques of pedagogy and visions of alternative systems. The volume examines a range of titles from novels that directly engage the Brown v. Board of Education decision, such as Sharon Draper's Fire From the Rock and Dorothy Sterling's Mary Jane, to novels that engage less obvious legacies of desegregation, such as Cynthia Voigt's Dacey's Song, Sharon Flake's Pinned, Virginia Hamilton's The Planet of Junior Brown, and Louis Sachar's Holes. This book will be of interest to scholars of American studies, children's literature, and educational philosophy and history.

Bridging Literacy and Equity Althier M.

Lazar, Patricia Ann Edwards, Gwendolyn Thompson McMillon, 2012-06-29. Extraordinary K-12 teachers show us what social equity literacy teaching looks like and how it advances children's achievement. Chapters identify six key dimensions of social equity teaching that can help teachers see their students' potential and create conditions that will support their literacy development. Serving students well depends on understanding relationships between race, class, culture, and literacy; the complexity and significance of culture; and the culturally situated nature of literacy. It also requires knowledge of culturally responsive practices such as collaborating with and learning from caregivers, using cultural referents, enacting critical and transformative literacy practices, and seeing the capacities of English Language Learners and children who speak African
