British Cinema in the Fifties Christine

Geraghty,2002-01-04 In the fifties British cinema won large audiences with popular war films and comedies creating stars such as Dirk Bogarde and Kay Kendall and introducing the stereotypes of war hero boffin and comic bureaucrat which still help to define images of British national identity In British Cinema in the Fifties Christine Geraghty examines some of the most popular films of this period exploring the ways in which they approached contemporary social issues such as national identity the end of empire new gender roles and the care of children Through a series of case studies on films as diverse as It Always Rains on Sunday and Genevieve Simba and The Wrong Arm of the Law Geraghty explores some of the key debates about British cinema and film theory contesting current emphases on contradiction subversion and excess and exploring the curious mix of rebellion and conformity which marked British cinema in the post war era

From the Fleet in the Fifties Mrs. Tom Kelly,1902 The old maid (The 'fifties) Edith Wharton,1924 The Old Maid (The 'Fifties)

Edith Wharton,2021-11-05 Edith Wharton s novella The Old Maid The Fifties presents a poignant exploration of societal constraints faced by women in post Civil War America The narrative unfolds through the lens of the oppressive social mores of the 1850s encapsulating the struggles of its central character the titular old maid who grapples with the choices available to women in a highly prescriptive society Wharton employs a rich evocative prose and sharp wit employing irony to critique the romantic ideals and moral dilemmas of her time The novella deeply embedded in the literary realism of the early 20th century examines themes of personal sacrifice and societal expectations as it reflects a transition towards modernity amidst the rigid structures of the past Edith Wharton the first woman to win the Pulitzer Prize for Literature was herself profoundly affected by the constraints of upper class society Born into a wealthy New York family she was acutely aware of the cultural and gender roles that dictated women's lives. Her personal experiences coupled with her erudition and keen observation of social dynamics propelled her to create this narrative that vividly articulates the internalized struggles of women, allowing her to critique and reflect on the transformative shifts of her era. The Old Maid is a compelling read for those interested in early feminist literature and social critique. Wharton's nuanced portrayal of emotional and societal complexities offers not only a window into the prevailing attitudes of 19th-century America but also timeless insights into the nature of sacrifice and identity. Readers who appreciate richly layered narratives infused with psychological depth will find this novella a resonant exploration of the price of conformity and the quest for personal fulfillment.

Australian Westerns in the Fifties Derham Groves, 2022-10-28

Australian Western in the Fifties Kangaroo Hopalong Cassidy on Tour and Whiplash looks at Australian Westerns from three points of view: film, personal appearance, and television at the beginning, middle, and end of the 1950s, the American Western's golden age. It looks at three significant but forgotten cases: 1. Kangaroo, the Australian Story, the first Technicolor film made in Australia, produced by the Hollywood movie studio 20th Century Fox, directed by the Academy Award-winning filmmaker Lewis Milestone, starring Maureen O'Hara, Peter Lawford, and Richard Boone. 2. The successful goodwill tour of Australia by the Hollywood actor William Boyd, who played the film, radio, and television cowboy Hopalong Cassidy. 3. The British American produced black and white TV series Whiplash, made in Australia and starring the Hollywood actor Peter Graves. The American filmmakers' ignorance of Australia meant they learned the hard way there was more to Australian Westerns than simply replacing the prairie with the bush, bison with kangaroos, and Native Americans with Aborigines. Indeed, the depiction of place and the presentation of Aboriginal culture are two of the most intriguing aspects of Australian Westerns. In retelling the filmmakers' stories, a unique picture of the Australian film and television industry and everyday life during the 1950s is revealed.

Sex Crimes in the Fifties Lisa Featherstone, Amanda Kaladelfos, 2016-07-18

The Australian Royal Commission into Institutional Responses to Child Sexual Abuse 2013-2017 has given national consciousness to the problematic treatment of sexual offences in Australia's past. Yet there has been little historical research into the policing, prosecution, and punishment of those crimes. This book examines Australia's treatment of sexual crimes in the 1950s, a decade well known for its political and social conservatism, its prudish views on morality, and its prescriptive gender roles for men and women. Fewer would know that this same decade saw soaring arrests, mounting criminal prosecutions, and intensifying public debates about how to deal with sexual offenders. Or that sexual offences on children attracted the most concentrated state attention and public concern. Sex Crimes in the Fifties uncovers this new history by drawing on transcripts of hundreds of criminal proceedings and extensive research in criminal justice archives. We examine the criminal trial itself, exploring how prosecutors, defence counsel, witnesses, juries, and judges understood sexual crimes. We consider the experience of women testifying in rape trials, the prosecution of sexual crimes against children, the court's treatment of recent immigrants, the prosecution and punishment of homosexual men the influence of psychiatric evidence and the increasing public debates over the sex offender We show that the 1950s was indeed foundational to many of our contemporary beliefs about sexual crimes This book makes a major contribution to our historical and socio legal knowledge about sexual offences and criminal prosecution It will be of interest to historians criminologists sociologists and legal scholars as well as general readers interested in the treatment of these crimes in our past The Gold Rushes of the Fifties William Eddrup Adcock,1912 Feeling Colour Bregt
