The Framework Of Language Michigan Studies In The Humanities:

The Framework of Language Roman Jakobson, 1980 The Logic of Markedness Edwin L. Battistella, 1996-08-22

Theories of language espoused by linguists during much of this century have assumed that there is a hierarchy to the elements of language such that certain constructions rules and features are unmarked while others are marked play for example is unmarked or neutral while played or player is marked This opposition referred to as markedness is one of the concepts which both Chomskyan generative grammar and Jakobsonian structuralism appear to share yet which each tradition has treated differently Battistella studies the historical development of the concept of markedness in the Prague School structuralism of Roman Jakobson its importation into generative linguistics and its subsequent development within Chomsky s principles and parameters framework He traces how structuralist and generative linguistics have drawn on and expanded the notion of markedness both as a means of characterizing linguistic constructs and as a theory of the innate language faculty Handbook of Semiotics Winfried Noth, 1990-09-22 History and Classics of Modern Semiotics Sign and Meaning Semiotics Code and the Semiotic Field Language and Language Based Codes From Structuralism to Text Semiotics Schools and Major Figures Text Semiotics The Field Nonverbal Communication Aesthetics and Visual Communication

Reflexive Language John A. Lucy, 1993-03-04 These innovative essays represent a critique of those researchers in the humanities and social sciences who fail to take language seriously The Cambridge Companion to Saussure Carol Sanders, 2004-12-02 Ferdinand de Saussure is widely considered to be the founder of both modern linguistics and structuralism The first to establish the structural study of language he identified the difference between the system of language Langue and the idiosyncratic speech of individuals Parole and was first to distinguish between the synchronic study of language language at a given time and the diachronic language as it changes through time This Companion brings together a team of leading scholars to offer a fresh new account of Saussure s work As well as looking at his pioneering and renowned Course in General Linguistics of 1916 they consider his lesser known early work his more recently discovered manuscripts and his influence on a range of other disciplines such as cultural studies philosophy literature and semiotics With contributions by specialists in each field this comprehensive and accessible guide creates a unique picture of the lasting importance of Saussure s thought Dynamics and Change in Organizations H.W. Gazendam, René Jorna, R.S.

Cijsouw, 2012-12-06 Organizational Semiotics occupies an important niche in the research community of human communication and information systems It opens up new ways of understanding the functioning of information and information resources in organised behaviour In recent years a number of workshops and conferences have provided researchers and practitioners opportunities to discuss their theories methods and practices and to assess the benefits and potential of this approach Literature in this field is much in demand but still difficult to find so we are pleased to offer a third volume in the miniseries of Studies in Organizational Semiotics This book is based on the papers and discussions of the fifth workshop on Organizational Semiotics held in Delft June 13 15 2002 hosted by Groningen University and Delft Technical University in the Netherlands The topic of this workshop was the dynamics and change in organizations The chapters in this book reflect recent developments in theory and applications and demonstrate the significance of Organizational Semiotics to information systems human communication and coordination organizational analysis and modelling In particular it provides a framework that accommodates both the technical and social aspects of information systems The mini series presents the frontier of the research in this area and shows how the theory and techniques enhance the quality of work on information systems

Vocal Tracks Jacob Smith, 2008-08-04 This entertaining and innovative book focuses on vocal performance styles that developed in tandem with the sound technologies of the phonograph radio and sound film Writing in a clear and lively style Jacob Smith looks at these media technologies and industries through the lens of performance bringing to light a fascinating nexus of performer technology and audience Combining theories of film sound cultural histories of sound technologies and industries and theories of performance Smith convincingly connects disparate and largely neglected performance niches to explore the development of a modern vocal performance Vocal Tracks Performance and Sound Media demonstrates the voice to be a vehicle of performance identity and culture and illustrates both the interconnection of all these categories and their relation to the media technologies of the past century

Morality in Discourse Michael Haugh, Rosina Márquez-Reiter, 2025-01-12 Morality is pervasive touching all aspects of social life The contributors to this volume provide an introduction to research on how morality is socially constructed in and through discourse and the implications of this for the empirical analysis and theorization of morality The volume addresses both how morality gets done through everyday practices as well as the practical concerns that discussions of morality inevitably entail It does so by delving into how morality is socially constructed in an array of communicative environments through the lens of a range of different discourse analytic traditions Drawing on the conceptual tools of moral stance positioning responsiveness and authority the chapters address the ways in which morality is enacted interactionally negotiated contested and policed What emerges from these discussions and analyses is an understanding of morality from a discursive perspective that encompasses both morality as action in which moral stances become the articulated object of action and moral framing in which the situated context itself is morally charged for evaluation

Knowledge in Formation Janos J. Sarbo, Jozsef I. Farkas, Auke J.J. van Breemen, 2011-06-16 Humans have an extraordinary capability to combine different types of information in a single meaningful interpretation The quickness with which interpretation processes evolve suggests the existence of a uniform procedure for all domains In this book the authors suggest that such a procedure can be found They concentrate on the introduction of a theory of interpretation and they define a model that enables a meaningful representation of knowledge based on a dynamic view of information and a cognitive model of human information processing The book consists of three parts The first part focuses on the properties of signs and sign interpretation in the second part the authors introduce a model that complies with the conditions for sign processing set by the first part and in the third part they examine applications of their model in the domain of logic natural language reasoning and mathematics Finally they show how these domains pop up as perspectives in an overall model of knowledge representation The reader is assumed to have some interest in human information processing and knowledge modeling Natural language is considered in the obvious sense familiarity with linguistic theories is not required Sign theoretical concepts are restricted to a manageable subset which is introduced gently Finally some familiarity with basic concepts of propositional and syllogistic logic may be useful

Contemporary Marketing and Consumer Behavior John F. Sherry, 1995-05-02 Scholarly and extensively footnoted the book is meant to be used as a sourcebook for anthropological research The book's primary audience should be marketing and anthropology researchers and graduate students faculty and researchers P G Kishel in Choice As a business person responsible for the development of advertising strategies and advertising campaigns I was impressed with the contributors willingness and desire to apply anthropological principles to real world problems John Sherry Jr's comment sums it up nicely Anthropology is a practical discipline anchoring the blue sky thinking it encourages firmly to the local ground it inhabits We need to encourage blue sky thinking so we don't repeatedly get the same answers to our inquiries Anthropologists can help us with these issues This book gives me enormous hope that applied anthropology will help restore the tremendous value that can be gained through qualitative research techniques Today in marketing and advertising focus groups are grossly overused misused and underanalyzed I was encouraged and excited about the authors discussions of good ethnographies and focus groups that for example instead of simply asking respondents whether or not EMF causes cancer a far more creative and insightful exercise was performed with consumers and then was intensely analyzed by anthropologists All too often today qualitative research is carelessly and quickly administered and the analysis consists of a 30 minute debriefing at the end of the last focus group In the last few years the need for cross cultural consumer understanding has grown rapidly This phenomenon makes it imperative that not only must we fully understand the meanings of brands and products to our domestic consumers but we must know which meanings are transportable to consumers in other cultures John Sherry Jr's book suggests that anthropologists could and should have a major role in cross cultural consumer understanding Patricia A Cafferata President and Chief Executive Officer Young anthropologists as consumer researchers have been a powerful underground force for the past 15 years of innovative marketing Major companies as well as government and private institutions have looked to anthropologists to help when other research has failed John Sherry Jr has collected outstanding anthropological practitioners in this volume and they have written cutting edge chapters on product symbolism consumer culture advertising efficacy and international marketing The power of this collection lies in the fresh insights to each of these themes and the ability to reframe old problems to re-perceive what it means to live the life of a consumer as we approach the next century Steve Barnett Managing Director Global Business Network Containing original articles and empirical substance Contemporary Marketing and Consumer Behavior responds to a growing demand for scholarship more tuned to the empirical and practical realities of consumer culture Written by leading anthropologists who specialize in marketing and consumer research it is intended as a sourcebook for readers interested in consumption and its managerial consequences The topics and their treatments run a gamut of concerns including elements of the marketing mix such as goods and services advertising and promotion relationship management managerial intervention and development class and gender linked consumer behaviors and the production of consumption Anthropological perspectives and methods employed by the authors range from materialistic to semiotic and both qualitative and quantitative methods are employed Contributors range across time space and topics in pursuit of understanding The result is a multifaceted perspective of marketing and consumer behavior Also the remarks of eminent senior Fellows of the Association for Consumer Research who have drawn upon anthropology to make their own seminal contributions to a number of disciplines punctuate this exceptional volume A remarkable and extraordinary text Contemporary Marketing and Consumer Behavior is ideal for scholars students and professionals in marketing cultural studies gender studies psychology sociology anthropology and communication

Signs and Society Richard J. Parmentier, 2016-10-03 A major voice in contemporary semiotic theory offers a new perspective on potent intersections of semiotic and linguistic anthropology In Signs and Society noted anthropologist Richard J Parmentier demonstrates how an appreciation of signs helps us better understand human agency meaning and creativity Inspired by the foundational work of C S Peirce and Ferdinand de Saussure and drawing upon key insights from neighboring scholarly fields Parmentier develops an array of innovative conceptual tools for ethnographic historical and literary research Parmentier's concepts of transactional value metapragmatic interpretant and circle of semiosis for example illuminate the foundations and effects of such diverse cultural forms and practices as economic exchanges on the Pacific island of Palau Pindar's Victory Odes in ancient Greece and material representations of transcendence in ancient Egypt and medieval Christianity Other studies complicate the separation of emic and etic analytical models for such cultural domains as religion economic value and semiotic ideology Provocative and absorbing these fifteen pioneering essays blaze a trail into anthropology's future while remaining firmly rooted in its celebrated past

Learning and Hatred for Meaning Hugo Kuyper Letiche, 1984-01-01 This study poses the problems of theoretical and philosophical pedagogy in the practice of teaching The research goal was to improve my teaching A concrete experience of undergraduate lecturing is the subject This unconventional New Paradigm research strives for an immediacy of contact between text and practice How does a beginning lecturer grapple with this job What is it like to establish oneself as a teacher The emphasis is upon the experience of teaching of the school and what is expected of one as
