Education of Cancer Healing Vol. V - Explorers Peter Havasi, France at Bay, 1870-1871 Douglas Fermer, 2011-07-12 The Franco Prussian War did not end with the catastrophic French defeat at Sedan on 1 September 1870 when an entire French army surrendered the Emperor Napoleon III was captured and his regime collapsed The war went on for another five agonizing months and resolved itself into a contest for Paris for while Paris held out France was undefeated The story of this dramatic final phase of the war is the subject of Douglas Fermers masterly account the sequel to his Sedan 1870 He weaves this story of military victory and defeat into a gripping narrative and it sets the extraordinary events of nearly 150 years ago in the wider context of European history Nelson's Perpetual Loose-leaf Encyclopaedia John

Huston Finley, 1909 Bismarck, the Hohenzollern Candidacy, and the Origins of the Franco-German War of 1870 Lawrence D. Steefel, 2018-12-01 It is known that the plan to elect a Prussian prince to the Spanish throne was the proximate and Bismarck's Ems telegram an immediate cause of the war of 1870 But much has remained obscure about the roles of the principal figures Lawrence Steefel fills in the lacunae with secret German documents available only after World War II including the correspondence between Bismarck and Marshal Prim of Spain It becomes clear that Bismarck did not initiate the Hohenzollern candidacy and that one of his most important reasons for adopting it was his fear of an anti Prussian coalition of Catholic powers International Law and the World War James Wilford Garner, 1920 The Reference

Panoramas, 1787-1900 Vol 3 Laurie Garrison, Anne Anderson, Sibylle Erle, Verity Hunt, Peter West, Phoebe Putnam, 2024-05-17 The panorama is primarily a visual medium but a variety of print matter mediated its viewing adverts reviews handbills and a descriptive programme accompanied by an annotated key to the canvas The short accounts programs reviews articles and lectures collected here are the primary historical sources left to us The People's Wars Mark Hewitson, 2017-02-09 How did ministers journalists academics artists and subjects in the German lands imagine war during the nineteenth century The Napoleonic Wars had been the bloodiest in Europe's history directly affecting millions of

Germans yet their long term consequences on individuals and on politics are still poorly understood This study makes sense of contemporaries memories and histories of the Revolutionary and Napoleonic campaigns within a much wider context of press reportage of wars elsewhere in Europe and overseas debates about military service and the reform of Germany s armies revolution and counter revolution and individuals experiences of violence and death in their everyday lives For the majority of the populations of the German states wars during an era of conscription were not merely a matter of history and memory rather they concerned subjects hopes fears and expectations of the future This is the second volume of Mark Hewitson s study of the violence of war in the German lands during the nineteenth and twentieth centuries It investigates the complex relationship between military conflicts and the violent acts of individual soldiers In particular it considers the contradictory impact of pacification in civilian life and exposure to increasingly destructive technologies of killing during war time This contradiction reached its nineteenth century apogee during the wars of unification leaving an ambiguous imprint on post war discussions of military conflict

A History of the Laws of War: Volume 2 Alexander Gillespie, 2011-10-07 This unique new work of reference traces the origins of the modern laws of warfare from the earliest times to the present day Relying on written records from as far back as 2400 BCE and using sources ranging from the Bible to Security Council Resolutions the author pieces together the history of a subject which is almost as old as civilisation itself The author shows that as long as humanity has been waging wars it has also been trying to find ways of legitimising different forms of combatants and ascribing rules to them protecting civilians who are either inadvertently or intentionally caught up between them and controlling the use of particular classes of weapons that may be used in times of conflict Thus it is that this work is divided into three substantial parts Volume 1 on the laws affecting combatants and captives Volume 2 on civilians and Volume 3 on the law of arms control This second book on civilians examines four different topics The first topic deals with the targetting of civilians in times of war This discussion is one which has been largely governed by the developments of technologies which have allowed projectiles to be discharged over ever greater areas and attempts to prevent their indiscriminate utilisation have struggled to keep pace The second topic concerns the destruction of the natural environment with particular regard to the utilisation of starvation as a method of warfare and unlike the first topic this one has rarely changed over thousands of years although contemporary practices are beginning to represent a clear break from tradition The third topic is concerned with the long standing problems of civilians under the occupation of opposing military forces where the practices of genocide collective punishments and or reprisals and rape have occurred The final topic in this volume is about the theft or destruction of the property of the enemy in terms of either pillage or the intentional devastation of the cultural property of the opposition As a work of reference this set of three books is unrivalled and will be of immense benefit to scholars and practitioners researching and advising on the laws of warfare It also tells a story which throws fascinating new light on the history of international law and on the history of warfare itself     You Run the Show or the Show Runs You J.D. Crouch II, Patrick J.
