Elected Friends Matthew Spencer, 2012-05-22 Robert Frost and Edward Thomas met in a bookshop in London in 1913 During the next four years the two writers Frost an unknown poet who had sold his farm in New Hampshire in order to take his family to England for one last gamble on poetry and Thomas a sad literary journalist formed the most important friendship between poets since that of Wordsworth and Coleridge

Their friendship only ended with Thomas death in Arras France a casualty of the First World War The story of Edward Thomas turn to poetry in fact has been dominated by the account of Robert Frost s injunction to break his existing prose into lines bringing his musical cadence and his direct speaking voice into conversation with formal prosody Thomas himself had already championed Frost s own early work These poems are revolutionary because they lack the exaggeration of rhetoric Their language is free from the poetical words and forms that are the chief material of the secondary poets The metre avoids not only old fashioned pomp and sweetness but the later fashion also of discord and fuss In fact the medium is common speech Mr Frost has in fact gone back as Whitman and as Wordsworth went back through the paraphernalia of poetry into poetry once again This book presents for the first time the full record arranged chronologically of what the poets wrote to for and about one another their letters poems and Thomas review of Frost s first two books They reveal a warmth and charm that give us the key to the relationship between Frost and Thomas
