Exploring the Translatability of Emotions Susan Petrilli, Meng Ji, 2022-03-09 This book offers an in depth cross cultural and transdisciplinary discussion of the translatability of social emotions The contributors are leading philosophers semioticians anthropologists communication and translation theorists from Europe America and Australia Part I explores the translatability of emotions as a culturally embedded social behaviour that requires a contextualized interpretation of their origins and development in different social and cultural settings These studies make useful preparations for the studies introduced in Part II that continue investigating the cultural and sociological influence of the development of social emotions with a special focus on the dialogical relation to the body and to others Part III presses on delving into specific types of emotions which underscore social interactions at both the community and individual levels such as dignity im politeness self regard and self esteem Finally Part IV offers a further development on the preceding parts as it discusses problems of translation expressibility and mass medial communication of emotions This book will engage translation scholars as well as those with a broader interest in the study and interpretation of emotions from different fields perspectives and disciplines

Topologies of Sexual Difference Louise Burchill, Rebecca Hill, James Sares, 2025-10-01 Brings together wide ranging interdisciplinary analyses of Luce Irigaray s rethinking of space with respect to sexual difference and the visual arts A rethinking of space is central to Luce Irigaray s philosophy of sexual difference Topologies of Sexual Difference is the first edited collection to focus on this task through a sustained consideration of both Irigaray s critique of the Western tradition s systematic conflation of femininity and space and her transvaluative topological redeployment of space in theorizing sexual difference Across thirteen chapters Irigarayan space is thematized as porous fluid continuous and self differentiating Contributors engage with the origins of life affect the aesthetics of the maternal and placental an Irigarayan morphology inclusive of trans embodiment and in a rare focus the expression of sexuate specificity in creative practice Topologies of Sexual Difference thus demonstrates the fundamental importance of Irigaray s rethinking of space for Western philosophy and the visual arts

Parables for the Virtual Brian Massumi, 2021-08-30 Since its publication twenty years ago Brian Massumi s pioneering Parables for the Virtual has become an essential text for interdisciplinary scholars across the humanities Massumi views the body and media such as television film and the internet as cultural formations that operate on multiple registers of sensation Renewing and assessing William James s radical empiricism and Henri Bergson s philosophy of perception through the filter of the postwar French philosophy of Deleuze Guattari and Foucault Massumi links a cultural logic of variation to questions of movement affect and sensation Replacing the traditional opposition of literal and figural with distinctions between stasis and motion and between actual and virtual Massumi tackles related theoretical issues by applying them to cultural mediums as diverse as architecture body art the digital art of Stelarc and Ronald Reagan s acting career The result is an intriguing combination of cultural theory science and philosophy that asserts itself in a crystalline and multifaceted argument This twentieth anniversary edition includes a new preface in which Massumi situates the book in relation to developments since its publication and outlines the evolution of its main concepts It also includes two short texts Keywords for Affect and Missed Conceptions about Affect in which Massumi explicates his approach to affect in ways that emphasize the book's political and philosophical stakes

Psychoanalysis and Other Matters Judith Edwards, 2019-07-05 Can we stand inside new thoughts rather than outside looking at a closed box This innovative and interdisciplinary collection aims to answer this question by broadening the way we look at and work with psychoanalytic ideas By examining these ideas through the lenses of other disciplines the contributors reveal what can be found when boundaries are breached and bridges are built in psychoanalytical thought Judith Edwards here calls upon international analysts psychotherapists and other professionals to explore the concepts of inside and outside in psychoanalysis boldly challenging existing boundaries In this unique and ground breaking collection chapters are written by a mathematics professor a sculptor film makers anthropologists from Australia and Canada an Ofsted inspector a neuroscientist and two Chinese psychotherapists The book emphasises the importance of listening across disciplinary lines and crossing frontiers within psychoanalysis itself by integrating psychoanalytic elements with poetry music literature quantum physics cultural studies and education Edwards presents this original and global research with authority showing us how these fields intersect and produce new understandings in us all that allow us to grow and benefit from new perspectives This collection is unlike no other in its interdisciplinary and international approach It will be an essential tool for all psychoanalysts including those in training as well as psychotherapists and psychotherapeutically engaged scholars It will also be of immense interest to academics and students of interdisciplinary studies psychosocial studies cultural studies and film studies Catholicity and Heresy in the Early Church Dr Mark Edwards,2013-05-28 While it has often been recognised that the development of Christian orthodoxy was stimulated by the speculations of those who are now called heretics it is still widely assumed that their contribution was merely catalytic that they called forth the exposition of what the main church already believed but had not yet been required to formulate This book maintains that scholars have underrated the constructive role of these heretical speculations in the evolution of dogma showing that salient elements in the doctrines of the fall the Trinity and the union of God and man in Christ derive from teachings that were initially rejected by the main church Mark Edwards also reveals how authors who epitomised orthodoxy in their own day sometimes favoured teachings which were later considered heterodox and that their doctrines underwent radical revision before they became a fixed element of orthodoxy The first half of the volume discusses the role of Gnostic theologians in the formation of catholic thought the second half will offer an unfashionable view of the controversies which gave rise to the councils of Nicaea Ephesus and Chalcedon Many of the theories advanced here have not been broached elsewhere and no synthesis on this scale had been attempted by other scholars While this book proposes a revision in the scholarly perception of early Christendom it also demonstrates the essential unity of the tradition
