Sheriff, 2018-08-16 In Enchanted Islands renowned art historian Mary D Sheriff explores the legendary fictional and real islands that filled the French imagination during the ancien regime as they appeared in royal ballets and festivals epic literature paintings engravings book illustrations and other objects Some of the islands were mythical and found in the most popular literary texts of the day islands featured prominently for instance in Ariosto s Orlando furioso Tasso s Gerusalemme liberata and F nelon s Telemachus Other islands real ones such as Tahiti and St Domingue the French learned about from the writings of travelers and colonists All of them were imagined to be the home of enchantresses who used magic to conquer heroes by promising sensual and sexual pleasure As Sheriff shows the theme of the enchanted island was put to many uses Kings deployed enchanted island mythology to strengthen monarchical authority as Louis XIV did in his famous Versailles festival Les Plaisirs de l'île enchantée Writers such as Fénelon used it to tell morality tales that taught virtue duty and the need for male strength to triumph over female weakness and seduction Yet at the same time artists like Boucher painted enchanted islands to portray art's purpose as the giving of pleasure In all these ways and more Sheriff demonstrates for the first time the centrality of enchanted islands to ancient regime culture in a book that will enchant all readers interested in the art literature and history of the time

The Saturday Magazine. Published Under the Direction of the Committee of General Literature and Education Appointed by the Society for Promoting Christian Knowledge, 1835 Unpathed Waters Robert R Cawley, 2014-01-14 First Published in 1968 The following studies are based to a considerable extent upon the evidence presented in a former volume The Voyagers and Elizabethan Drama The author draws the conclusions and inferences for which the proof is to be found in the earlier publication The studies culminate to estimate how the rich material so abundantly provided by the voyagers was utilized by some of the characteristic literary figures The History of the Discovery and Conquest of the Canary Islands, Translated from a Spanish Manuscript, Lately Found in the Island of Palma : with an Enquiry Into the Origin of the Ancient Inhabitants. The Saturday Magazine, 1834 Primitivism and Related Ideas in the Middle Ages George Boas, 1997-07-24 The Noble Savage earthly paradise the original condition of human beings cynicism Christianity All of us men were born in the first man without vice and all of us lost the innocence of our nature by the sin of the same man Thence our inherited mortality thence the manifold corruptions of body and mind thence ignorance distress useless cares illicit lusts sacrilegious errors empty fear harmful love unwarranted joys punishable counsels and a number of miseries no smaller than that of our crimes St Prosper of Aquitania quoted in Primitivism and Related Ideas in the Middle Ages This volume of essays written by George Boas in collaboration with Arthur O Lovejoy was originally intended to be the second in a series of four documenting the history of primitivism and related ideas about goodness in the world Covering the Middle Ages these essays underscore the continuity between pagan and Christian cultures with respect to concepts of primitivism and examine the latter period's modifications of a group of favorite classical themes. They demonstrate the growth of primitivism and anti-primitivism from the first through the thirteenth centuries and include a discussion of such subjects as the Noble Savage, earthly paradise, the original condition of human beings, and cynicism and Christianity. They also, as Boas suggests in his preface, drive the piles for a bridge between the Renaissance and Classical Antiquity although the superstructure itself remains to be constructed.

Gardens of Madeira—Gardens of the World Beata Elżbieta Cieszyńska, José Eduardo Franco, Ana Cristina da Costa Gomes, 2020-05-15

The volume Gardens of Madeira Gardens of the World Contemporary Approaches displays present tendencies in calling upon the idea of gardens being a wide range approach to their literary, sociological, and cultural representations. The book's four parts: Madeira, A Garden in the Sea, Gardens as Temporal and Spatial Category, Cultural and Literary Approaches, Gardens as an Expression, Socio-cultural Perspectives, and Re-Creating the Archetypal Garden. Discourses and Practices refer to vast geographical and cultural areas starting with the very complex sample of the overseas yet European Island of Madeira and then joining the exemplification material from historical and contemporary European communities with some luso-centric accents including examples from the less known Slavonic and Eastern European countries. Those European issues are confronted with various non-European societies such as from Africa, Asia, and both Americas. Gardens evoke and express in many ways the present human condition and as such a process goes on; this book provides proposals for patterns to connect them to the modern and post-modern rules of self-defining, reading the Other, interpreting world national cultural literatures as well as to the various attempts to introduce the idea of gardens into the basic spatial and temporal aspects of contemporary communities. It also demonstrates the theoretical and practical attempts to project our gardens' dependence on to one of the essentials for contemporary societies which are multicultural, urbanised, technologically equipped and dependent but which still are keen on reading and constructing paradises as environmental and cultural spaces for both asylum and encounter. The huge advantage of the book is showing to scholars and the wider public how discourses from the past meet with the quests of both the Humanities and the Sciences for gardening inspirations not only for the sake of the today's societies but also when projecting the future of the Earth.

Foundations of Atlantis, Ancient Astronauts and Other Alternative Pasts Jason Colavito, 2015-03-06

Did aliens visit ancient civilizations? Could Jesus have fathered a dynasty? Did people of the ancient world visit the Americas centuries before Columbus? The public enjoys such questions which have spawned countless books, movies, and television series but very rarely is any actual evidence produced. According to many eager writers and television hosts, evidence for long ago astronauts or early transatlantic voyages can be found in ancient texts. But too often sources remain obscure and some writers have altered or fabricated texts to make their case for extraterrestrials and lost civilizations. This book examines more than 130 very old texts used to make the case for Atlantis, aliens, fallen angels, the Great Flood, giants, transatlantic voyagers, ancient high technology and many other mysteries English translations are presented with explanatory notes showing how these texts have been used and abused to make entertaining claims about prehistory The Fortunate Island Charles Heber Clark, 1882
