collection of essays responds to the intense interest that the relations between the discourses of literature and other cultural practices and those of science have obtained throughout various fields of study Spanning a period between the mid nineteenth century and the twenty first century the work collected here is firmly focused on the cultural significance of scientific discoveries and practices and especially on the manifold representations of science and scientists in literature and the arts Its four sections develop from an initial moment of dwindling indefiniteness of borders between literature and the sciences to the historical perception of an increasing divide between the two cultures to use C P Snow s influential expression as well as calls for a form of convergence or consilience in Edward Wilson s words The final section turns to the medical sciences a porous scientific discipline in relation to the humanities which suggests that consilience can already be found partially in specific areas As such this collection contributes towards critically extending that integration through the discussion of key literary representations of science its promises and its problems

Science Fiction and the Mass Cultural Genre System John Rieder,2017-03-07 A fresh approach to the history and shape of science fiction In Science Fiction and the Mass Cultural Genre System John Rieder asks literary scholars to consider what shape literary history takes when based on a historical rather than formalist genre theory Rieder starts from the premise that science fiction and the other genres usually associated with so called genre fiction comprise a system of genres entirely distinct from the pre existing classical and academic genre system that includes the epic tragedy comedy satire romance the lyric and so on He proposes that the field of literary production and the project of literary studies cannot be adequately conceptualized without taking into account the tensions between these two genre systems that arise from their different modes of production distribution and reception Although the careful reading of individual texts forms an important part of this study the systemic approach offered by Science Fiction and the Mass Cultural Genre System provides a fundamental challenge to literary methodologies that foreground individual innovation
