Matthew Levering, 2010-03-21 This book inquires as to whether theological dialogue between Christians and Jews is possible not only in itself but also as regards the emergence of communities of Messianic Judaism In light of David Novak's insights Matthew Levering proposes that Christian theological responses to supersessionism need to preserve both the Church's development of doctrine and Rabbinic Judaism's ability to define its own boundaries The book undertakes constructive philosophical theology in dialogue with Novak Exploring the interrelated doctrines of divine providence theonomy the image of God and natural law Levering places Novak's work in conversation especially with Thomas Aquinas whose approach fosters a rich dialogue with Novak's broadly Maimonidean perspective It focuses upon the relationship of human beings to the Creator with attention to the philosophical entailments of Jewish and Christian covenantal commitments aiming to spell out what true freedom involves It concludes by asking whether Christians and Jews would do better to bracket our covenantal commitments in pursuing such wisdom Drawing upon Novak's work the author argues that in the face of suffering and death God's covenantal election makes possible hope lacking which the quest for wisdom runs aground Creating an Ethical Jewish Life Byron L. Sherwin, Seymour, Cohen, 2000-12-04 The classic texts of Jewish ethical literature works little known to most of us now available for personal study This one of a kind book brings Jewish ethical literature from ancient and medieval worlds straight into our twenty first century lives
