Mass Housing Miles Glendinning, 2021-03-25 Shortlisted for the Alice Davis Hitchcock Medallion 2021. The Society of Architectural Historians of Great Britain. It will become the standard work on the subject. Literary Review. This major work provides the first comprehensive history of one of modernism's most defining and controversial architectural legacies: the 20th century drive to provide homes for the people. Vast programmes of mass housing, high rise, low rise, state funded and built in the modernist style, became a truly global phenomenon, leaving a legacy which has suffered waves of disillusionment in the West but which is now seeing a dramatic 21st century renaissance in the booming, crowded cities of East Asia. Providing a global approach to the history of Modernist mass housing production, this authoritative study combines architectural history with the broader social, political, cultural aspects of mass housing, particularly the mass politics of power and state building throughout the 20th century. Exploring the relationship between built form, ideology and political intervention, it shows how mass housing not only reflected the transnational ideals of the Modernist project but also became a central legitimizing pillar of nation states worldwide. In a compelling narrative which likens the spread of mass housing to a Hundred Years War of successive campaigns and retreats, it traces the history around the globe from Europe via the USA, Soviet Union and a network of international outposts to its ultimate optimistic resurgence in China and the East, where it asks: Are we facing a new dawn for mass housing or another great housing failure in the making?

Fashion Forward, 2020-05-18 The Underwriter, 1884 Spatial Politics in Contemporary London

Literature Laura Colombino, 2013-06-19 This book analyses the spatial politics of a range of British novelists writing on London since the 1950s, emphasizing spatial representation as an embodied practice at the point where the architectural landscape and the body enter into relation with each other. Colombino visits the city in connection with its boundaries.

abstract spaces and natural microcosms as they stand in for all the conflicting realms of identity its interstices and ruins are seen as inhabited by bodies that reproduce internally the external conditions of political and social struggle The study brings into focus the fiction in which London provides not a residual interest but a strong psychic phenomenological grounding and where the awareness of the physical reality of buildings and landscape conditions shape the concept of the subject traversing this space Authors such as J G Ballard Geoff Dyer Michael Moorcock Peter Ackroyd Iain Sinclair Geoff Ryman Tom McCarthy Michael Bracewell and Zadie Smith are considered in order to map the relationship of body architecture and spatial politics in contemporary creative prose on the city Through readings that are consistently informed by recent developments in urban studies and reflections formulated by architects sociologists anthropologists and art critics this book offers a substantial contribution to the burgeoning field of literary urban studies Vivienne Westwood Vivienne Westwood, Ian

Konijnendijk, 2018-03-12 Amsterdamse Bos Bois de Boulogne Epping Forest Hong Kong's country parks Stanley Park throughout history cities across the world have developed close relationships with nearby woodland areas In some cases cities have even developed and in some cases are promoting a distinct forest identity This book introduces the rich heritage of these city forests as cultural landscapes and shows that cities and forests can be mutually beneficial Essential reading for students and researchers interested in urban sustainability and urban forestry this book also has much wider appeal For with city forests playing an increasingly important role in local government sustainability programs it provides an important reference for those involved in urban planning and decision making public affairs and administration and even public health From providers of livelihoods to healthy recreational environments and from places of inspiration and learning to a source of conflict the book presents examples of city forests from around the world These cases clearly illustrate how the social and cultural development of towns and forests has often gone hand in hand They also reveal how better understanding of city forests as distinct cultural and social phenomena can help to strengthen synergies both between cities and forests and between urban society and nature
