Nguyen,1993 Bulletin of the Atomic Scientists ,1994-09 Bulletin of the Atomic Scientists ,1994-09 Professional Journal of the United States Army ,1994 Cold War Submarines Norman Polmar,Kenneth J. Moore,2004 Submarines had a vital if often unheralded role in the superpower navies during the Cold War Their crews carried out intelligence collection operations sought out and stood ready to destroy opposing submarines and from the early 1960s threatened missile attacks on their adversary s homeland providing in many respects the most survivable nuclear deterrent of the Cold War For both East and West the modern submarine originated in German U boat designs obtained at the end of World War II Although enjoying a similar technology base by the 1990s the superpowers had created submarine fleets of radically different designs and capabilities Written in collaboration with the former Soviet submarine design bureaus Norman Polmar and K J Moore authoritatively demonstrate in this landmark study how differing submarine missions antisubmarine priorities levels of technical competence and approaches to submarine design organizations and management caused the divergence The Militarization and Weaponization of Space Matthew Mowthorpe,2004-01-01 The militarization of space began as a rivalry between the United States and the Soviet Union and grew to enormous proportions during the height of the Cold War Satellite reconnaissance navigation and weapons guidance and electronic intelligence comprise only a few of the efforts taken to militarize and dominate space Today as the prominence of information technology computing and telecommunications advances so does the concept of space as a battlefield In The Militarization and Weaponization of Space Matthew Mowthorpe diligently analyzes the military space policies of the United States the Soviet Union Russia and the People s Republic of China from the Cold War period to the present day Mowthorpe focuses on the development of the ballistic missile defense and other anti satellite systems and aptly assesses to what degree space will become armed This work cogently addresses an issue of increasing urgency to scholars of international politics

The American Bibliography of Slavic and East European Studies Patt Leonard,Rebecca Routh,2020-02-27 This bibliography first published in 1957 provides citations to North American academic literature on Europe Central Europe the Balkans the Baltic States and the former Soviet Union Organised by discipline it covers the arts humanities social sciences life sciences and technology The Submariner's Dictionary Or Submariner's Compendium of Terms & Tar's Handbook of Naval Verbiage and Retired Guy's Re-familiarization Manual Ron Martini,2005 Submariners are a tight knit group of men bound together by training and experience and with a language all their own That language is perhaps a little vulgar but never intentionally demeaning and a little irreverent but still worldly This work is an attempt to preserve and explain some of these curious guys who so proudly wear a shiny metal pin that looks like a strange pair of fish on their left breast This process of accumulating this new language begins in Boot Camp and is added to with every change of duty station the sailor undergoes It is heard aboard the boats and unknowingly by family members who can t understand terms

Nuclear Designs Bruce Larkin, 2018-04-17 Global politics has changed with unaccustomed swiftness since the end of the Cold War Eastern Europe is free the Soviet Union has broken up China presses free market economic reform and the United States and Russia have declared a joint commitment to end nuclear war The force of these changes has created a new agenda for global politics and security policy This does not mean that nuclear weapons have lost their centrality Nuclear development programs continue in the major holders of advanced weapons In Israel Pakistan India North Korea Iraq and Iran nuclear intentions are subject to widespread speculation and scrutiny Negotiations for renewal of the Nuclear Non Proliferation Treaty remind us that the treaty requires serious efforts to abolish nuclear weapons Nuclear Choices points out that the Cold War s end has not banished mistrust Instead it has opened the door to frank conversation about the usefulness of force and the need to address common fears States now face a global choice among alternative nuclear futures If they desire to avoid runaway nuclear development the choices come down to three the status quo disengagement or abolition Larkin argues that if they chose the status quo they elect a world in which only terror and self restraint keep devastation at bay a world in which instant destruction is possible This study focuses on the nuclear weapons programs of Great Britain China and France because they may be less familiar to students of international affairs Each of these countries has developed a substantial nuclear capability that could decisively shape the result of coming global nuclear decisions Larkin concludes that these three minipowers could conclude that nuclearism serves their interests refuse disengagement and encourage proliferation If they are prepared to abandon nuclearism they have tremendous political leverage on Russia the United States and also on undeclared and aspiring nuclear weapons states For now only the United Kingdom France and China maintain sufficient warhead inventories and production capabilities to have strong effects on how the United States and Russia view their own strategic capabilities Nuclear Choices asserts that governments polities and parties today do not know how to guarantee themselves against weapons of mass destruction They must either acquire the political and social means to achieve such guarantees or accept a world in which nuclearism will continue to cast its shadow over all aspects of nation building It will be of interest to political scientists policymakers military analysts and those interested in the nuclear issue
