Integration and Fragmentation of the Sudan: an African Renaissance Mawut Achiecque Mach Guarak, 2011-02-21 The most comprehensive profound and accurate book ever written in the history of modern Sudan Integration and Fragmentation of the Sudan An African Renaissance is an encyclopedia of ancient and modern history as well as the politics of Sudan It is a library of data that discusses Sudan from its economic political and social standpoint since the Arab discovery and use of the term Bilad es Sudan up through the modern republic of the Sudan after which South and North Sudan collided in 1947 Although written to correct fabrications this book is a foundation on which future Sudans shall live on It is full of useful information that discusses and provides feasible solutions to the fundamental problem of the Sudan that ruptured the country from the Berlin Conference to the post independence era For centuries Sudanese and the international community have been fed with idealistic information as if Sudan started with the coming of the Arabs in the fourteenth century This persisted due to the lack of resources and formal education among African natives Khartoum's unreasonable diversion of genuine history is one among the many causes of mistrust and division in Sudan The indigenous Africans found themselves

Transforming Sudan Alden Young, 2017-12-07

Following the conclusion of the Second World War the nature of inequality in Africa was dramatically altered

In this book Alden Young traces the emergence of economic developmentalism as the ideology of the Sudanese state in the decolonization era

Young demonstrates how the state was transformed as a result of the international circulation of tools of economic management and the practice of economic diplomacy from the management of a collection of distinct populations to the management of a national economy based on individual equality

By studying the hope and eventual disillusionment this ideology gave to late colonial officials and then Sudanese politicians and policymakers Young demonstrates its rise and also its shortfalls as a political project in Sudan particularly its inability to deal with questions of regional and racial equity not only showing how it fostered state formation but also civil war
