Carter, Marcia Levetown, Sarah E. Friebert, 2011-10-15 There are few things requiring more expertise delicacy and compassion than caring for an infant child or young adult with a life limiting condition This guide provides professionals involved in pediatric palliative and end of life care with comprehensive information Children Mourning, Mourning Children Kenneth J. Doka, 2014-01-21 Based on the Hospice Foundation of America's second annual teleconference this book explores three basic themes in children's grief. Firstly it maintains that children are always developing therefore their understanding of death and their reactions to illness and loss are also multifaceted and constantly undergoing change. Secondly children grieve in ways that are both different from and similar to adults. While they may need different therapeutic approaches from their elders each loss is different and the grief experience will be affected by many of the same factors that affect adults. Thirdly it holds that they need significant support as they grieve. Talking to children about loss and illness is too important to wait until a crisis rather it is essential to provide opportunities to discuss loss in times that are not so emotionally laden. This book aims to demonstrate that open communication between parents and children will lead to skills and understanding that are essential to the child for coping with loss and reaffirming that death is part of the process of living.

Female Experience Joan Raphael-Leff, Rosine Jozef Perelberg, 1997. Female Experience brings together contributions from three generations of female psychoanalysts writing about their own experiences of working with female patients and questioning the specific determinants of female sexuality and gender identity which have become central in psychoanalytic debate. The authors represent a cross section of different theoretical orientations: Kleinian, Freudian and Independent and also draw on varied professional backgrounds. Beginning with Freud, psychoanalysts have questioned the constraints of gender as manifested with transference and countertransference within the therapeutic process. However, explorations have focused on cross gender alliances. The contributors to this book present detailed material pertaining exclusively to the analytic relation between women. The insight this book gives into female analysts' special way of listening to and understanding women's preoccupations serves to illustrate why British analysts have made such a huge contribution to the psychoanalytic gender debate in recent years. The editors are both full members of the British Psychoanalytical Society and the International Psychoanalytical Association.
