Stylistic Boundaries Among Mobile Hunter Foragers:

Stylistic Boundaries Among Mobile Hunter-foragers Clavil Garth Sampson, 1988 In this study of the valley wide distributions of South African decorative motifs Sampson pioneers a methodology for etching band territories out of the archaeological surface trace left by mobile hunter forager societies African Foragers Sibel Barut Kusimba, 2003-01-21 Study of the development of foraging strategies in Africa from the Middle Stone Age to the present Boundaries, Borders and Frontiers in Archaeology Bryan Feuer, 2016-02-17 Until fairly recently archaeological research has been directed primarily toward the centers of societies rather than their perimeters Yet frontiers and borders precisely because they are peripheral promote interaction between people of different polities and cultures with a wide range of potential outcomes Much work has begun to redress this disparity of focus Drawing on contemporary and ethnographic accounts historical data and archaeological evidence this book covers more than 30 years of research on boundaries borders and frontiers beginning with The Northern Mycenaean Border in Thessaly in 1983 The author discusses various theoretical and methodological issues concerning peripheries as they apply to the archaeological record Political economic social and cultural processes in border and frontier zones are described in detail Three case study societies are examined China Rome and Mycenaean Greece Social Identities Among Archaic Mobile Hunters and Gatherers of the American Southwest Maxine McBrinn, 2005 The mobile hunters and gatherers of the Archaic Southwest were members of at least three different kinds of social groups bands endogamous marriage groups and a risk sharing economic network By comparing the geographic distributions of iconological and technological style in cordage sandals and projectile points it is possible to distinguish marriage groups from the larger economic networks Using artifacts from Bat Cave Tularosa Cave and Cordova Cave in the New Mexico Mogollon and from Fresno Shelter in the Tularosa Basin this research demonstrated that technological style in fiber artifacts is more geographically constrained than iconological style in sandals or projectile points indicating that although the bands using these rock shelters came from different marriage groups they participated in the same risk sharing economic network Ethnicity, Hunter-Gatherers, and the "Other" Susan Kent, 2014-05-20 As the world continues to shrink owing to globalization the need to understand the diversity of culturally distinct societies and their interactions with neighboring groups becomes greater than ever Susan Kent has invited an international team of experts to present their insights into how one type of society African hunter gatherers has managed to survive long past the first contact between foragers farmers and pastoralists The contributors explore many issues including culture change trade tribute inter group relations autonomy dependence and differential contact histories and rates of change They consider why the association of hunter gatherers with non hunter gatherers has sometimes led to trade between autonomous societies and in other cases has led to assimilation Ethnicity Hunter Gatherers and the Other illuminates both past and present foraging societies by presenting new data and reinterpreting previously collected data within the framework of inter group interactions

Archaeological Perspectives on the Southern Appalachians Ramie A. Gougeon, Maureen Meyers, 2015-03-10 This volume demonstrates how archaeologists working in the Southern Appalachian region over the past 40 years have developed rich interpretations of prehistoric and historic Southeastern Native societies by examining them from multiple scales of analysis. The end results of these examinations demonstrate both the uses and the constraints of multiscale approaches in reconstructing various lifeways across the Southeast.

The Archaeologist's Laboratory Edward B. Banning, 2020-07-27 This second edition of the classic textbook The Archaeologist's Laboratory is a substantially revised work that offers updated information on the archaeological work that follows fieldwork such as the processing and analysis of artifacts and other evidence. An overarching theme of this edition is the quality and validity of archaeological arguments and the data we use to support them. The book introduces many of the laboratory activities that archaeologists carry out and the ways we can present research results including graphs and artifact illustrations. Part I introduces general topics concerning measurement error, data quality, research design, typology, probability, and databases. It also includes data presentation, basic artifact conservation, and laboratory safety. Part II offers brief surveys of the analysis of lithics and ground stone, pottery, metal artifacts, bone and shell artifacts, animal and plant remains, and sediments, as well as dating by stratigraphy, seriation, and chronometric methods. It concludes with a chapter on archaeological illustration and publication. A new feature of the book is illustration of concepts through case studies from around the world and from the Palaeolithic to historical archaeology. The text is appropriate for senior undergraduate students and will also serve as a useful reference for graduate students and professional archaeologists.

Archaeology at the Millennium Gary M. Feinman, T. Douglas Price, 2007-09-27 In this book internationally distinguished contributors consider hot topics in turn of the millennium archaeology and chart an ambitious agenda for the future.

Style and Function Teresa D. Hurt, Gordon Rakita, 2000-10-30 The topics of style and function within evolutionary archaeology have been the subject of great debate in the field of archaeology in general over the past two decades. Evolutionary archaeologists have a unique perspective on these concepts, one that has sometimes been misunderstood by archaeologists working within other theoretical perspectives. The dichotomy between style and function was first formulated in the late 1970s by Robert Dunnell and remains axiomatic within the theoretical perspective of evolutionary archaeology. The original definitions of style and function were grounded in biological evolutionary concepts regarding neutral variation versus variation that is subject to natural selection. Several chapters expand upon these concepts and explore how Darwinian evolutionary theory may be used to understand the archaeological record. Other chapters demonstrate this application through empirical case studies. Dunnell provides a foreword introducing and re-examining his original thesis. This volume is the only text devoted to the topic of style and function within the literature of evolutionary archaeology. It provides not only theoretical discussions and augmentation but also significant historical background regarding the development of the style-function distinction within archaeology. Moreover, it presents several case studies that provide examples of how evolutionary style and function may be applied to the prehistoric record Foraging in the Past

Lemke, 2019-02-15 The label hunter gatherer covers an extremely diverse range of societies and behaviors yet most of what is known is provided by ethnographic and historical data that cannot be used to interpret prehistory Foraging in the Past takes an explicitly archaeological approach to the potential of the archaeological record to document the variability and time depth of hunter gatherers Well established and young scholars present new prehistoric data and describe new methods and theories to investigate ancient forager lifeways and document hunter gatherer variability across the globe The authors use relationships established by cross cultural data as a background for examining the empirical patterns of prehistory Covering underwater sites in North America the peaks of the Andes Asian rainforests and beyond chapters are data rich methodologically sound and theoretically nuanced effectively exploring the latest evidence for behavioral diversity in the fundamental process of hunting and gathering Foraging in the Past establishes how hunter gatherers can be considered archaeologically extending beyond the reach of ethnographers and historians to argue that only through archaeological research can the full range of hunter gatherer variability be documented Presenting a comprehensive and integrated approach to forager diversity in the past the volume will be of significance to both students and scholars working with or teaching about hunter gatherers Contributors Nicholas J Conard Raven Garvey Keiko Kitagawa John Krigbaum Petra Krnneck Steven Kuhn Julia Lee Thorp Peter Mitchell Katherine Moore Susanne C M nzel Kurt Rademaker Patrick Roberts Britt Starkovich Brian A Stewart Mary Stiner
