Suddenly Love:

Suddenly, Love Aharon Appelfeld, 2020-04-15 Aharon Appelfeld is one of the subtlest most unorthodox and most exactly perceptive novelists to make the memory of the Holocaust his abiding project Philip Gourevitch The New Yorker A lonely older man and his devoted young caretaker transform each other's lives in ways they could never have imagined Ernst is a gruff seventy year old Red Army veteran from Ukraine who landed almost by accident in Israel after World War II A retired investment adviser he lives alone his first wife and baby daughter were killed by the Nazis he divorced his shrewish second wife and spends his time laboring over his unpublished novels Irena in her mid thirties is the unmarried daughter of Holocaust survivors who has been taking care of Ernst since his surgery two years earlier she arrives every morning promptly at eight and usually leaves every afternoon at three Quiet and shy Irena is in awe of Ernst's intellect And as the months pass Ernst comes to depend on the gentle young woman who runs his house listens to him read from his work and occasionally offers a spirited commentary on it But Ernst's writing gives him no satisfaction and he is haunted by his godless Communist past His health already poor begins to deteriorate even further he becomes mired in depression and seems to lose the will to live But this is something Irena will not allow As she becomes an increasingly important part of his life moving into his home encouraging him in his work easing his pain Ernst not only regains his sense of self and discovers the path through which his writing can flow but he also discovers to his amazement that Irena is in love with him And even more astonishing he realizes that he is in love with her too
