I Call to Remembrance Toyo Suyemoto, 2007-07-13 Toyo Suyemoto is known informally by literary scholars and the media as Japanese America's poet laureate But Suyemoto has always described herself in much more humble terms A first generation Japanese American she has identified herself as a storyteller a teacher a mother whose only child died from illness and an internment camp survivor Before Suyemoto passed away in 2003 she wrote a moving and illuminating memoir of her internment camp experiences with her family and infant son at Tanforan Race Track and later at the Topaz Relocation Center in Utah from 1942 to 1945 A uniquely poetic contribution to the small body of internment memoirs Suyemoto's account includes information about policies and wartime decisions that are not widely known and recounts in detail the way in which internees adjusted their notions of selfhood and citizenship lending insight to the complicated and controversial questions of citizenship accountability and resistance of first and second generation Japanese Americans Suyemoto's poems many written during internment are interwoven throughout the text and serve as counterpoints to the contextualizing narrative Suyemoto's poems many written during internment are interwoven throughout the text and serve as counterpoints to the contextualizing narrative A small collection of poems written in the years following her incarceration further reveal the psychological effects of her experience

Now and Then Robert Hass, 2010-05 When a simple case turns into a treacherous and politically charged investigation Spenser faces his most difficult challenge yet keeping his cool while his beloved Susan Silverman is in danger Spenser knows something's amiss the moment Dennis Do

Women in Independent Publishing Stephanie Anderson, 2024-12-15 Women in Independent Publishing is a collection of interviews with and resources about women actively engaged in small press publishing between the 1950s and the 1980s The interviewees include Hettie Jones Margaret Randall Bernadette Mayer and many others The scope and range of the interviews showcase a variety of types of publishing possible within the small press community These interviews illuminate the unifying and diverging elements between multiple publishing scenes and reveal their particularities and commonalities Women in Independent Publishing is a timely and urgent documentation of literary history and reveals and celebrates the multifaceted roles of women editors and publishers and the communities they built The book includes a critical introduction an afterword by contemporary small press publisher M C Hyland and a robust resources section that provides further paths for reading and literary recovery

Substrate Jim A. Powell, 2009-04-21 In a review of Jim Powell's first book Thom Gunn praised his poetry for tapping a subject matter that is endless and important achieved in the poem so we grasp it as we read Substrate gathers three new collections of Powell's poetry the work of a dozen years These poems open inward windows on the world outward from indigenous habitat in Northern California They include the past as an aspect of the present and spirit as a dimension of the actual The title poem summons twenty five witnesses from oral and documentary history to focus through the lens of poetry an adult view over their shoulders of California history a compound portrait or collage sampling the indelible strata that compose the cultural substrate of the region Diverse in theme stance tone genre and form the poems in this collection are characterized by lucidity and penetration plainspoken intensity compression and depth From the Hardcover edition

The Apple Trees at Olema Robert Hass, 2010-03-23 No practicing poet has more talent than Robert Hass Atlantic Monthly The National Book Award winning author of Time and Materials Robert Hass is one of the most revered of all living poets With The Apple Trees at Olema the former Poet Laureate and winner of the 2008 Pulitzer Prize offers twenty new and selected poems grounded in the beauty of the physical world As with all of the collections of this great artist's work published far too infrequently The Apple Trees at Olema is a cause for celebration

The Columbia Granger's Index to Poetry in Anthologies Tessa Kale, 2007 For over a hundred years The Columbia Granger's Index to Poetry in Anthologies has been the preeminent index for answers to questions about the world of poetry identifying the author of a poem or the anthologies in which it can be found when only a title first line or last line is known This latest edition a must have for libraries brings its index up to date as of May 31 2006 This latest version features 85 000 classic and contemporary poems by 12 000 poets Also included are works in translation and for the first time poetry in Spanish Vietnamese and French The subject organization of the poems is especially useful Hundreds of new subjects have been added indexing poems on highly relevant topics such as Osama bin Laden the war in Iraq Dick Cheney the Internet and Rosa Parks as well as timeless subjects like the Bill of Rights unspoken love faith and inspiration Our impressive team of consultants includes J D McClatchy Harvey Shapiro and former poet laureate Mark Strand From The Norton Anthology of Poetry 2005 edition to Poetry after 9 11 and Garrison Keillor's Good Poems this new edition puts readers in touch with the best of the latest anthologies and the lasting favorites
