history and theory Making Love Paul Kelleher,2015-07-16 In Making Love Sentiment and Sexuality in Eighteenth Century British Literature Paul Kelleher revises the history of sexuality from the vantage point of the literary history of sentimentalism Kelleher demonstrates how eighteenth century British philosophers essayists and novelists fundamentally reconceived the relations among sentiment sexuality and moral virtue It is his contention that sentimental discourse both philosophical and literary posited heterosexual desire as the precondition of moral feeling and conduct The author further suggests that sentimental writers fashioned the ideal of conjugal love as an ideological antidote to the theories of self love and self interest found in the works of Thomas Hobbes and Bernard Mandeville Heterosexual desire and its culmination in conjugal love in other words were represented as the privileged means for an individual to transcend self love and to develop a moral sensibility attuned to the thoughts and feelings of others At the same time Kelleher suggests other pleasures and desires particularly those rooted in same sex eroticism were increasingly depicted as antithetical to conjugal love and thus were morally devalued and socially disenfranchised Kelleher s argument unfolds through close readings of a variety of texts including Shaftesbury s Characteristics of Men Manners Opinions Times Joseph Addison and Richard Steele s the Tatler and the Spectator Eliza Haywood s Love in Excess Samuel Richardson s Pamela and Henry Fielding s Tom Jones Although these texts embody diverse rhetorical strategies and thematic concerns he shows how they collectively reinforce an overarching sentimental ideology on the one hand heterosexual desire and conjugal love become synonymous with sympathy benevolence and moral goodness while on the other hand same sex desire is pathologized as a selfish withdrawal from procreation domesticity sociability and ultimately humanity itself Mrs. Piozzi's Tall Young Beau, William Augustus Conway John Tearle, 1991 Further autograph letters of Hester Lynch Piozzi to William Augustus Conway have come to light which show the depth of her affection for Conway and help to reveal the character of a man whose birth life and death have always been shrouded in mystery
