who enter the service of the State should make it their chief study to set out in the world with some notable act which may strike the imagination of the people and cause themselves to be discussed Thus I preached first upon All Saints Day before an audience which could not but be numerous in a populous city where it is a wonder to see the Archbishop in the pulpit I began now to think seriously upon my future conduct I found the archbishopric sunk both in its temporals and spirituals by the sordidness negligence and incapacity of my uncle I foresaw infinite obstacles to its reestablishment but perceived that the greatest and most insuperable difficulty lay in myself I considered that the strictest morals are necessarily required in a bishop I felt myself the more obliged to be strictly circumspect as my uncle had been very disorderly and scandalous I knew likewise that my own corrupt inclinations would bear down all before them and that all the considerations drawn from honour and conscience would prove very weak defences We are delighted to publish this classic book as part of our extensive Classic Library collection Many of the books in our collection have been out of print for decades and therefore have not been accessible to the general public The aim of our publishing program is to facilitate rapid access to this vast reservoir of literature and our view is that this is a significant literary work which deserves to be brought back into print after many decades The contents of the vast majority of titles in the Classic Library have been scanned from the original works To ensure a high quality product each title has been meticulously hand curated by our staff Our philosophy has been guided by a desire to provide the reader with a book that is as close as possible to ownership of the original work We hope that you will enjoy this wonderful classic work and that for you it becomes an enriching experience
