our society but their actions are often not well understood The Oxford Handbook of Police and Policing brings together research on the development and operation of policing in the United States and elsewhere Accomplished policing researchers Michael D Reisig and Robert J Kane have assembled a cast of renowned scholars to provide an authoritative and comprehensive overview of the institution of policing The different sections of the Handbook explore policing contexts strategies authority and issues relating to race and ethnicity The Handbook also includes reviews of the research methodologies used by policing scholars and considerations of the factors that will ultimately shape the future of policing thus providing persuasive insights into why and how policing has developed what it is today and what to expect in the future Aimed at a wide audience of scholars and students in criminology and criminal justice as well as police professionals the Handbook serves as the definitive resource for information on this important institution

Administration,1972 Police, Criminal Justice, and the Community Alan Edward Bent,Ralph A. Rossum,1976 This book focuses on the relations of the community not only with the police but also with the other components of the criminal justice system and advances a theoretical and practical justification for police community relations The book was written as a primary textbook for college students in courses on police community relations In addition to its focus on the entire criminal justice system and its sustained justification of police community relations on the basis of the political principles of majority rule and minority rights this book also emphasizes the need for political and social realism It stresses that police community relations are in fact two way communication and that even when the police and courts and corrections as well fully appreciate the need for improved relations with the community all of their insights and efforts may well be for naught if there is not a reciprocal and equal response and commitment to police community relations on the part of the community
