Encyclopedia of Contemporary Literary Theory Irene Rima Makaryk, 1993-01-01 The last half of the twentieth century has seen the emergence of literary theory as a new discipline As with any body of scholarship various schools of thought exist and sometimes conflict within it I R Makaryk has compiled a welcome guide to the field Accessible and jargon free the Encyclopedia of Contemporary Literary Theory provides lucid concise explanations of myriad approaches to literature that have arisen over the past forty years Some 170 scholars from around the world have contributed their expertise to this volume Their work is organized into three parts In Part I forty evaluative essays examine the historical and cultural context out of which new schools of and approaches to literature arose The essays also discuss the uses and limitations of the various schools and the key issues they address Part II focuses on individual theorists It provides a more detailed picture of the network of scholars not always easily pigeonholed into the categories of Part I This second section analyses the individual achievements as well as the influence of specific scholars and places them in a larger critical context Part III deals with the vocabulary of literary theory It identifies significant complex terms places them in context and explains their origins and use Accessibility is a key feature of the work By avoiding jargon providing mini bibliographies and cross referencing throughout Makaryk has provided an indispensable tool for literary theorists and historians and for all scholars and students of contemporary criticism and culture

Chinese Theories of Fiction Ming Dong Gu, 2007-06-01 In this innovative work Ming Dong Gu examines Chinese literature and traditional Chinese criticism to construct a distinctly Chinese theory of fiction and places it within the context of international fiction theory He argues that because Chinese fiction or xiaoshuo was produced in a tradition very different from that of the West it has formed a system of fiction theory that cannot be adequately accounted for by Western fiction theory grounded in mimesis and realism Through an inquiry into the macrocosm of Chinese fiction the art of formative works and theoretical data in fiction commentaries and intellectual thought Gu explores the conceptual and historical conditions of Chinese fiction in relation to European and world fiction In the process Gu critiques and challenges some accepted views of Chinese fiction and provides a theoretical basis for fresh approaches to fiction study in general and Chinese fiction in particular Such masterpieces as the Jin Ping Mei The Plum in the Golden Vase and the Hongloumeng The Story of the Stone are discussed at length to advance his notion of fiction and fiction theory

The Fictional Minds of Modernism Ricardo Miguel-Alfonso,2020-02-20 Challenging the notion that modernism is marked by an inward turn a configuration of the individual as distinct from the world this collection delineates the relationship between the mind and material and social systems rethinking our understanding of modernism s representation of cognitive and affective processes Through analysis of a variety of international novels short stories and films all published roughly between 1890 and 1945 the contributors to this collection demonstrate that the so called inward turn of modernist narratives in fact reflects the necessary interaction between mind self and world that constitutes knowledge and therefore precludes any radical split between these categories The essays examine the cognitive value of modernist narrative showing how the perception of objects and of other people is a relational activity that requires an awareness of the constant flux of reality The Fictional Minds of Modernism explores how modernist narratives offer insights into the real historical world not as a mere object of contemplation but as an object of knowledge thus bridging the gap between classical narratology and modernist experimentation Reading the Eighteenth-Century Novel David H.
