The Eye Of The Mind

C. Landesman

The Eye Of The Mind:

The Eye and the Mind C. Landesman, 2013-06-29 This book is a discussion of some of the major philosophical problems centering around the topic of sense perception and the foundations of human knowledge It begins with a characterization of our common sense understanding of the role of the senses in the acquisition of belief and it argues that scientific accounts of the processes of perception undermine salient parts of this understanding The naive point of view of direct realism cannot be sustained in the light of a scientifically instructed understanding of perception This critique of direct realism points to the correctness of the representative theory of perception characteristic of such early modern philosophers as Descartes and Locke and it also endorses the subjective turn that they defended It argues that these positions do not require introducing sense data into the picture and thus it avoids the intractable problems that the sense datum philosophy introduces In addition several versions of cognitive accounts of sense perception are criticized with the result that it is unnecessary to characterize sensory processes in intentional terms The book then turns to a leading question introduced into modern philosophy by Descartes and Locke the question of the accuracy of the information delivered by the senses to our faculty of belief In particular how accurate are our representations of the secondary qualities The case of color is considered in detail

EYE OF THE MIND MIND OF THE EYE. ,1988 The Eye's Mind Karen Jacobs, 2018-09-05 The Eye's Mind significantly alters our understanding of modernist literature by showing how changing visual discourses techniques and technologies affected the novels of that period In readings that bring philosophies of vision into dialogue with photography and film as well as the methods of observation used by the social sciences Karen Jacobs identifies distinctly modernist kinds of observers and visual relationships This important reconception of modernism draws upon American British and French literary and extra literary materials from the period 1900 1955 These texts share a sense of crisis about vision's capacity for violence and its inability to deliver reliable knowledge Jacobs looks closely at the ways in which historical understandings of race and gender inflected visual relations in the modernist novel She shows how modernist writers increasingly aware of the body behind the neutral lens of the observer used diverse strategies to displace embodiment onto those others historically perceived as cultural bodies in order to reimagine for themselves or their characters a purified gaze The Eye's Mind addresses works by such high modernists as Vladimir Nabokov Virginia Woolf and more distantly Ralph Ellison and Maurice Blanchot as well as those by Henry James Zora Neale Hurston and Nathanael West which have been tentatively placed in the modernist canon although they forgo the full blown experimental techniques often seen as synonymous with literary modernism Jacobs reframes fundamental debates about modernist aesthetic practices by demonstrating how much those practices are indebted to the changing visual cultures of the twentieth century A Smile in the Mind's Eye Lawrence Durrell, 2012-06-12 The virtuoso author's memoir of his spiritual journey with famed Taoist philosopher Jolan Chang The New York Times Beginning with their first meeting over lunch at Lawrence Durrell's Provencal home Durrell and Jolan Chang renowned Taoist philosopher and expert on Eastern sexuality developed an enduring relationship based on mutual spiritual exploration Durrell's autobiographical rumination on their friendship and on Taoism recounts the author's existential ponderings starting with his introduction to the mystical and enigmatic smile in the mind's eye From parsimony cooking and yoga to poetry Petrarch and Nietzsche A Smile in the Mind's Eye is a charming tale of a writer's spiritual and philosophical awakening

In the Mind's Eye Mary A. Peterson, Barbara Gillam, H. A. Sedgwick, 2007-01-04 How can we best describe the processes by which we visually perceive our environment Contemporary perceptual theory still lacks a coherent theoretical position that encompasses both the limitations on the information that can be retained from a single eye fixation and the abundant phenomenal and behavioral evidence for the perception of an extended and coherent world As a result many leading theorists and researchers in visual perception are turning with new or renewed interest to the work of Julian Hochberg For over 50 years in his own experimental research in his detailed consideration of examples drawn from a wide range of visual experiences and activities and most of all in his brilliant and sophisticated theoretical analyses Hochberg has persistently engaged with the myriad problems inherent in working out the kind of coherent theoretical position the field currently lacks The complexity of his thought and the wide range of areas into which Hochberg has pursued the solution to this central problem have however limited both the accessibility of his work and the appreciation of his accomplishment In this volume we seek to bring the full range of Hochberg's work to the attention of a wider audience by offering a selection of his key works many taken from out of print or relatively inaccessible sources To facilitate the understanding of his accomplishment and of what his work has to offer to contemporary researchers and theorists in visual perception we include commentaries on salient aspects of his work by 20 noted researchers In the Mind's Eye will be of interest to researchers working on topics such as perceptual organization visual attention space perception motion perception visual cognition the relationship between perception and action picture perception and film who are striving to obtain a deeper understanding of their own fields and who want to integrate this understanding into a broader unified view of visual perceptual processing

In the Mind's Eye Alexandra K. Wettlaufer, 2021-11-08 This comparative interdisciplinary study investigates the relationship between literature and the visual arts in France and Britain from 1750-1900 Through a close examination of the prose writings of Diderot Baudelaire and Ruskin read against the background of contemporary philosophy aesthetics and theories of language In the Mind's Eye proposes a new interpretation of the influence and rivalries underlying the development of art criticism as a genre during this period The visual impulse the desire to transcend the limitations of language and make the reader see is located within the historical traditions of ekphrasis enargeia and the paragone while in each chapter the individual author's theories of the mind memory and imagination provide a critical framework for his stylistic experiments In the Mind's Eye presents an in depth analysis of the cultural theoretical and aesthetic implications of artistic border crossings and by contextualizing the movement toward visual verbal hybridity in the fiction and criticism of Diderot Baudelaire and Ruskin brings new perspectives to nineteenth century studies in art and literature In the Eye's Mind R. Steven Turner, 2014-07-14 One of the most persistent controversies of modern science has dealt with human visual perception It erupted in Germany during the 1860s as a dispute between physiologists Hermann von Helmholtz Ewald Hering and their schools Well into the twentieth century these groups warred over the origins of our capacity to perceive space over the retinal mechanisms that mediate color sensations and over the role of mind experience and inference in vision Here R Steven Turner explores the impassioned exchanges of those rival schools both to illuminate the clash of theory and to explore the larger role of controversy in the development of science Controversy he suggests is constitutive of scientific change and he uses the Helmholtz Hering dispute to illustrate how polemics and tacit negotiation shape evolving theoretical stances Turner focuses on the arguments and issues of the dispute issues that ranged from the interpretation of color blindness and optical illusions to the therapeutic practices of clinical ophthalmology As well he focuses on the personalities institutions disciplinary structures and methodological commitments that shaped the dispute including the schools rhetorical strategies He explores the incommensurability of the protagonists viewpoints and examines the reception of the theories and the changing fortunes of the schools Finally Turner traces the controversy into the twentieth century where the issues continue to inform the study of vision today Originally published in 1994 The Princeton Legacy Library uses the latest print on demand technology to again make available previously out of print books from the distinguished backlist of Princeton University Press These editions preserve the original texts of these important books while presenting them in durable paperback and hardcover editions The goal of the Princeton Legacy Library is to vastly increase access to the rich scholarly heritage found in the thousands of books published by Princeton University Press since its founding in 1905 The Mind's Eye Oliver Sacks, 2010-10-26 NATIONAL BESTSELLER From the poet laureate of medicine The New York Times and the author of the classic The Man Who Mistook his Wife for a Hat comes a fascinating exploration of the remarkable unpredictable ways that our brains cope with the loss of sight by finding rich new forms of perception Elaborate and gorgeously detailed Again and again Sacks invites readers to imagine their way into minds unlike their own encouraging a radical form of empathy Los Angeles Times With compassion and insight Dr Oliver Sacks again illuminates the mysteries of the brain by introducing us to some remarkable characters including Pat who remains a vivacious communicator despite the stroke that deprives her of speech and Howard a novelist who loses the ability to read Sacks investigates those who can see perfectly well but are unable to recognize faces even those of their own children He describes totally blind people who navigate by touch and smell and others who ironically become hyper visual Finally he recounts his own battle with an eye tumor and the strange visual symptoms it caused As he has done in classics like The Man Who Mistook his Wife for a Hat and Awakenings Dr Sacks shows us that medicine is both an art and a science and that our ability to imagine what it is to see with another person's mind is what makes us truly human
