The Expendable Mary Slessor James Buchan,1980      The Expendable Mary Slessor James Buchan,1980-01-01      Mary Slessor - Everybody's Mother Jeanette Hardage,2010-03-25 This is the story of Mary Slessor a petite redhead from the slums of Dundee who became one of the most influencing people in the land known to her compatriots as the white man's grave. Despite her eccentricities this woman truly understood and connected with the Africans among whom she lived so much so that the British government appointed her their first woman magistrate anywhere in the world and later awarded her the highest honor then bestowed on a woman commoner. Examining both the era and the influence of this extraordinary woman the book reveals aspects of her public and private life that has previously been unanswered.      Lives of Scottish Women William Knox,2006-03-06 This book tells the remarkable stories of ten women whose inspirational lives and struggles exemplify the concerns and problems that other women have faced throughout the last two centuries. Each is the subject of a chapter devoted to her particular story and the times in which she lived. The nineteenth and twentieth centuries witnessed great changes in women's position in Scotland and yet little is known about the achievements of the Scottish women who were the main agents of these changes. In presenting the life stories of ten women William Knox provides evidence of the huge contribution made by women to the shaping of modern Scotland. At the same time he shows how the life histories of individuals can reveal previously dark corners of historical understanding and allow a more nuanced picture of Scottish society as a whole. Subjects include Jane Welsh Carlyle brilliantly gifted but married to the wayward and demanding Thomas Sophia Jex Blake Scotland's first female doctor and Mary Slessor.      From Jerusalem to Irian Jaya Ruth A. Gender, Geography and Empire Cheryl McEwan, 2019-06-03 This title was first published 2000 This text is intended to draw together two important developments in contemporary geography firstly the recognition of the need to write critical histories of geographical thought and particularly the relationship between modern geography and European imperialism and secondly the attempt by feminist geographers to countervail the absence of women in the histories The author focuses on the narratives of British women travellers in West Africa between 1840 and 1915 exploring their contributions to British imperial culture the ways in which they were empowered in the imperial context by virtue of both race and class and their various representations of West African landscapes and peoples The book argues for the inclusion of women and their experiences in histories of geographical thought and explores the possibilities and problems of combining feminist and post colonial approaches to these histories

Women and Missions: Past and Present Shirley Ardener, Fiona Bowie, Deborah Kirkwood, 2021-02-25 This collection of essays by eminent anthropologists missiologists and historians explores the hitherto neglected topic of women missionaries and the effect of Christian missionary activity upon women The book consists of two parts The first part looks at 19th century women missionaries as presented in literature at the backgrounds and experience of women in the mission field and at the attitudes of missionary societies towards their female workers Although they are traditionally presented as wives and support workers it becomes apparent that on the contrary women missionaries often played a culturally important role The second and longest section asks whether women missionaries are indeed a special case and provides some fascinating studies of the impact of Christian missions on women in both historical material and a wealth of contemporary material Of particular value is the perspective of those who were themselves objects of missionary activity and who reflected upon this experience Women actively absorbed and adapted the teachings of the Christian missionaries and Western models are seen to be utilized and developed in sometimes unexpected ways A History of Christianity in Africa Elizabeth Isichei,1995 Isichei s thorough study surveys the full breadth of Christianity in Africa from the early story of Egyptian Christianity to the churches of the Middle Years 1500 1800 to the prolific success of missions throughout the 1900s This important book fills a conspicuous void of scholarly works on Africa s Christian history Includes 26 maps Religion in Calabar Rosalind I.
