The Afrikaners Their Last Great Trek:

The Afrikaners Graham Leach, 1989 The Afrikaners Graham Leach, 1989 Satanism and Family Murder in Late Apartheid South Africa Nicky Falkof, 2015-07-04 This book discusses two moral panics that appeared in the media in late apartheid South Africa the Satanism scare and the so called epidemic of white family murder The analysis of these symptoms of social and political change reveals important truths about whiteness gender violence history nationalism and injustice in South Africa and beyond Heart of Whiteness June Goodwin, Ben Schiff, 1995 When South Africa's present transitional government comes to an end apartheid will be dead But just as the demise of slavery did not solve America's race problems so the abolition of apartheid will only begin South Africa's healing process Heart of Whiteness examines the cataclysmic changes taking place among Afrikaners the white tribe of South Africa Myths and Nationhood George Schopflin, Geoffrey Hosking, 2013-09-13 Myths are central to the way we live and how we define ourselves In this pioneering book a group of specialists among them Anthony Smith Norman Davies Geoffrey Hosking and George Schopflin look at the general and theoretical nature of myth on a universal basis and examine the specific myths of various nations With nationhood and ethnicity at the centre of political attention the book is timely in illuminating the deeper underlying issues of nationalism that cause so much conflict throughout the world Shadow of Liberation Vishnu Padayachee, Robert Van Niekerk, 2019-10-01 Shadow of Liberation explores the intricate twists turns contestations and compromises of ANC economic and social policymaking with a focus on the transition era of the 1990s and the early years of democracy With the damning revelations by the Zondo Commission of Inquiry into State Capture on the massive corruption of the South African body politic the timing of this book could not be more relevant South Africans need to confront the economic and social policy choices that the liberation movement made and to see how these decisions may have facilitated the conditions for corruption to emerge and flourish Answers are needed Padayachee and van Niekerk focus their attention on the primary question of how and why the ANC given its historical anti inequality redistributionist stance come in the 1990s to such a dramatic turn around and move towards an essentially market dominated approach Were they pushed or did they go willingly What role if any did Western governments and international financial institutions play And what of the role of the late apartheid state and South African business Did leaders and comrades sell out the ANC's emancipatory policy vision Shadow of Liberation tries to provide answers to these questions drawing on the best available primary archival evidence as well as extensive interviews with key protagonists across the political non government and business spectrum The authors argue that the ANC's emancipatory policy agenda was broadly to establish a social democratic welfare state upholding rights of social citizenship However its economic policy framework to realise this emancipatory mission was either non-existent or egregiously misguided The Power of Your Life Grietjie Verhoef, 2018 This book explores a century of business development of The South African Life Assurance Company charting its history and strategic transformation from a defined cultural context into a national conglomerate through innovation on all levels of business operation and organization

Women in the South African Parliament Hannah Britton, 2010-10-01 Although the international press closely chronicled the dismantling of South Africa's apartheid policies it paid little attention to the unique role women from a variety of political parties played in establishing the new government Utilizing interviews participant observation and archival research Women in the South African Parliament tells an inspiring story of liberation showing how these women achieved electoral success learned to work with lifelong enemies and began to transform Parliament by creating more space for women's voices during a critical time in the life of their democracy Arguing from her detailed analysis of the strategies and political tactics used by these South African women both individually and collectively Hannah Britton contends that contrary claims in earlier studies of the developing world mobilization by women prior to a transition to democracy can lead to gains after the transition including improvements in constitutional mandates party politics and representation At the same time Britton demonstrates that not even national leadership can ensure power for all women and that many who were elected to South Africa's first democratic parliament declined to run again feeling they could have a greater impact working in their own communities

The Muzzled Muse Margreet de Lange, 1997 A critical assessment of literature produced under censorship needs to take into account that the strategies of the censors are answered by strategies of the writers and the readers To recognize self censoring strategies in writing it is necessary to know the specific restrictions of the censorship regime in question In South Africa under apartheid all writers were confronted with the question of how to respond to the pressure of censorship This confrontation took a different form however depending on what group the writer belonged to and what language he/she used By looking at white writers writing in Afrikaans and white and black writers writing in English this book gives the impact of censorship on South African literature a comparative examination which it has not received before The book considers works by J M Coetzee Nadine Gordimer Andre Brink and others less known to readers outside South Africa like Karel Schoeman Louis Kruger Christopher Hope Miriam Tlali and Mtutuzeli Matshoba It treats the censorship laws of the apartheid regime as well as in the final chapter the new law of the Mandela government which shows some surprising similarities to its predecessor

Anatomy of a Miracle Patti Waldmeir, 1998 The late 1980s were a dismal time inside South Africa Mandela's African National Congress was banned Thousands of ANC supporters were jailed without charge Government hit squads assassinated and terrorized opponents of white rule Ordinary South Africans black and white lived in a perpetual state of dread Journalist Patti Waldmeir evokes this era of uncertainty in Anatomy of a Miracle her comprehensive new book about the stunning and historically speaking swift transformation of South Africa from white minority oligarchy to black ruled democracy Much that Waldmeir documents in this carefully researched and elegantly written book has been well reported in the press and in previous books But what distinguishes her work is a reporter's attention to detail and a historian's sense of sweep and relevance Waldmeir has written a deeply reasoned book but one that
