

FROM THE AUTHOR OF THE EMPTY RAINCOAT

CHARLES HANDY

THE AGE OF UNREASON

'We are entering an age of unreason, a time when the future, in so many areas, is to be shaped by us and for us; a time when the only prediction that will hold true is that no prediction will hold true; a time, therefore, for bold imagining in private life as well as public; for thinking the unlikely and doing the unreasonable.'

The Age Of Unreason

The Age of Unreason (summary). Charles Handy, 1993 The Age of Unreason Charles Handy, 1990-01-01 George Bernard Shaw observed that the reasonable man adapts himself to the world while the unreasonable man persists in trying to adapt the world to himself In The Age of Unreason Charles Handy shows that today we need more unreasonable men women In an era when change is constant random and as Handy calls it discontinuous it is necessary to break out of old ways of thinking in order to use change to our advantage We are entering the Age of Unreason when the only prediction that will hold true is that no prediction will hold true It is time for bold imaginings for thinking the unlikely doing the unreasonable Handy shows how dramatic changes are transforming businesses education the nature of work We can see them in astounding new developments in technology in the shift in demand from manual to cerebral skills in the virtual disappearance of lifelong full time jobs Handy maintains that discontinuous change requires discontinuous upside down thinking We need new kinds of organizations new approaches to work new types of schools new ideas about the nature of our society The Age of Unreason Charles B.
