The Agro Pontino Survey Project:

The Agro Pontino Survey Project, 1991 Palaeohistoria 41/42 (1999-2000) Institute of Archaeology, 2001-01-01 This work covers various topics relating to palaeontology The Agro Pontino Survey Project Albertus Voorrips, S. H. Loving, Hans Kamermans, Instituut voor Pre- en Protohistorische Archeologie Albert Egges van Giffen, 1991 Beyond the Map Gary R. Lock, 2000 This set of papers by European and North American archaeologists explore the interface between new spatial technologies and areas of theoretical concern in spatial archaeology Differing aspects of landscape such as vision perception and movement are explored through a series of case studies that focus on how spatial technologies can influence archaeological interpretation and to what extent these new technologies can be manipulated to take us beyond 2 dimensional maps Individual site based analyses and new applications of predictive modelling are also presented and assessed together with the wider questions of spatial technologies within heritage management GIS and Archaeological Site Location

Modeling Mark W. Mehrer, Konnie L. Wescott, 2005-12-21 Although archaeologists are using GIS technology at an accelerating rate publication of their work has not kept pace A state of the art exploration the subject GIS and Archaeological Site Location Modeling pulls together discussions of theory and methodology scale data quantitative methods and cultural resource management and uses loc Quaternaria Nova, 1996 Fields, Farms and Colonists Tymon C. A. de Haas, 2011 In this study the author addresses two important issues in Roman archaeology On the basis of a comparison of intensive field surveys in different parts of the Pontine region central Italy it is argued that detailed site and off site collection strategies have much to offer in understanding site chronology and land use patterns Setting the field survey data in a wider geographical and historical context the author also explores the context and impact of the foundation of Roman colonies and rural tribes on rural settlement systems as such contributing to current debates on the nature of early Roman colonization

Mapping the Archaeological Continuum Stefano R.L. Campana, 2018-04-25 This book addresses the true landscape perspective approach that archaeologists in Italy and in many parts of the Mediterranean use to study the archaeology of landscapes marking a departure from the traditional site based approach The aim of the book is to promote the broader application of new paradigms for landscape analysis combining traditional approaches with multidisciplinary studies as well as comparatively new techniques such as large scale geophysical surveying airborne laser scanning and geo environmental studies This approach has yielded tangible and striking results in central Italy clearly demonstrating that identifying the archaeological continuum is a realistic aim even under the specific environmental and archaeological conditions of the Mediterranean world Mousterian Lithic Technology Steven L. Kuhn, 2014-07-14 Human beings depend more on technology than any other animal the use of tools and weapons is vital to the survival of our species What processes of biocultural evolution led to this unique dependence Steven Kuhn turns to the Middle Paleolithic Mousterian and to artifacts associated with Neanderthals the most recent human predecessors His study examines the ecological economic and strategic factors that shaped the behavior of Mousterian tool makers revealing how these hominids brought technological knowledge to bear on the basic problems of survival Kuhn's main database consists of assemblages of stone artifacts from four caves and a series of open air localities situated on the western coast of the Italian peninsula Variations in the ways stone tools were produced maintained and discarded demonstrate how Mousterian hominids coped with the problems of keeping mobile groups supplied with the artifacts and raw materials they used on a daily basis Changes through time in lithic technology were closely tied to shifting strategies for hunting and collecting food Some of the most provocative findings of this study stem from observations about the behavioral flexibility of Mousterian populations and the role of planning in foraging and technology Originally published in 1995 The Princeton Legacy Library uses the latest print on demand technology to again make available previously out of print books from the distinguished backlist of Princeton University Press These editions preserve the original texts of these important books while presenting them in durable paperback and hardcover editions The goal of the Princeton Legacy Library is to vastly increase access to the rich scholarly heritage found in the thousands of books published by Princeton University Press since its founding in 1905 Sampling in Archaeology Clive

Orton, 2000-05-11 The first overview of sampling for archaeologists for over twenty years this manual offers a comprehensive account of the applications of statistical sampling theory which are essential to modern archaeological practice at a range of scales from the regional to the microscopic Bringing archaeologists up to date with an aspect of their work which is often misunderstood it includes a discussion of the relevance of sampling theory to archaeological interpretation and considers its fundamental place in fieldwork and post excavation study It demonstrates the vast range of techniques that are available only some of which are widely used by archaeologists A section on statistical theory also reviews latest developments in the field and the formal mathematics is available in an appendix cross referenced with the main text
