The American Impressionists:

Impressionism in America Ulrich W. Peters, 1997 Americans in Florence Francesca Bardazzi, Carlo Sisi, 2012 The relationship American impressionist painters had with Italy particularly with Florence was very intense between the mid nineteenth century and the start of the twentieth After the Civil War hundreds of painters came to Italy Florence Venice and Rome had by long tradition been the centre of the Grand Tour and were places made legendary by those who wanted to know and study the art of the past while also exercising a powerful fascination because of their climate landscape atmosphere and people The catalogue features painters who though not explicitly adhering to the new impressionist language were fundamental examples for the younger generations including Winslow Homer William Morris Hunt John La Farge and Thomas Eakins They were followed by great precursors such as John Singer Sargent Mary Cassatt and James Abbott McNeill Whistler who could lay claim to considerable cosmopolitanism The heart of the book will consist of works by artists who stayed in Florence among whom were some genuine exponents of the American impressionist group the Ten American Painters William Merritt Chase John Henry Twachtman Frederick Childe Hassam and by Frank Duveneck who played a particularly important role in the relations between American and local artists gathering a school around himself the so called Duveneck boys The link between the activity of the Americans in Florence and their compatriot intellectuals collectors writers and art critics will also be studied Gertrude Stein Mabel Dodge Bernard Berenson the brothers Henry and William James Egisto Fabbri and his family Mabel Hooper La Farge Bancel La Farge Charles Loeser and Edith Wharton Publisher s website The American Impressionists in the Garden May Brawley Hill,2010 At the end of the nineteenth century American artists demonstrated a preference for gardens as artistic motifs as well as a growing appreciation of the art of gardening itself The range of color and the variation in form and silhouette made the garden a compelling subject for a large number of painters inclined toward the Impressionist style Early twentieth century America witnessed a mania for the garden and the interest in the art of gardening dominated many aspects of domestic life Publications and articles offered gardening advice for Americans while also asserting that the art of gardening paralleled the art of painting The exhibition catalog The American Impressionists in the Garden explores the theme of the garden in American art and society of the late nineteenth and early twentieth centuries May Brawley Hill s essay discusses a range of themes including the Impressionist fascination for gardens the history of garden design comparisons between European and American garden paintings images of women and the art colony movement as well as providing detailed readings of the specific gardens painted and cultivated by these artists Besides the forty four color plates depicting European and American gardens by American artists the catalog includes some historic photographs of artists in garden settings These allow the reader to examine the relationship between the garden as photographed and the garden as painted The catalog looks at garden paintings from Holland France Italy and England and from different regions in the United States including the Northeast Southeast Southwest and West Coast Garden sculpture was an essential element of garden design and the catalog also features images of a number of small scale bronzes and other statuary for garden environments This book has been developed to accompany a 2010 exhibition at Cheekwood Botanical Garden Museum of Art
