The English Face:

The English Face David Piper, 1978 Anti-Portraits: Poetics of the Face in Modern English, Polish and Russian Literature (1835-1965) Kamila Pawlikowska, 2015-10-05 Anti Portraits Poetics of the Face in Modern English Polish and Russian Literature 1835 1965 is a study of a physiognomic descriptions of the face It demonstrates that writers such as George Eliot Leo Tolstoy Edgar Allan Poe Nicolay Gogol Virginia Woolf and Witold Gombrowicz vigorously resisted the belief that facial features reflect character While other studies tend to focus on descriptions which affirm physiognomy this book examines portraits which question popular face reading systems and contravene their common premise the surface depth principle Such portraits reveal that physiognomic formula is a cultural construct invented to abridge organise and regulate legibility of the human face Most importantly strange and unreadable fictional faces frequently expose the connection between physiognomic judgement and stereotyping prejudice and racism The English Face. David Piper, 1957 The English Student's Companion Frederick Martin Cowan, 1856 The Unimagined in the English Renaissance Andrew Mattison, 2013 When we read poetry we tend to believe that we are getting a glimpse of the interior of the poet s mind pictures from the poet s imagination relayed through the representative power of language But poets themselves sometimes express doubt usually indirectly that poetic language has the capability or the purpose of revealing these images This book examines description in Renaissance poetry aiming to reveal its complexity and variability its distinctiveness from prose description and what it can tell us about Renaissance ways of thinking about the visible world and the poetic mind Recent criticism has tended to address representation as a product of culture The Unimagined in the English Renaissance argues to the contrary that attention to description as a literary phenomenon can complicate its cultural context by recognizing the persistent problems of genre and literary history The book focuses on Sidney Spenser Donne and Milton who had very different aims as poets but shared a degree of skepticism about imagistic representation For these poets description can obscure as much as it makes visible and can create whole categories of existence that are outside of visibility altogether The English Madrigal School Edmund H.
