A minority and the state Becky Taylor, 2013-07-19 This is a new paperback edition of Becky Taylor's history of Britain's travelling communities in the twentieth century It draws together detailed archival research at local and national level to explore the impact of state and legislative developments on Travellers as well as their experience of missions education war and welfare It also covers legal developments affecting Travellers and crucially argues that their history must not be dealt with in isolation but as part of a wider history of British minorities This book will be of interest to scholars and students concerned with minority groups the welfare state and the expansion of government as well as general readers and practitioners working with Travellers The SAGE International Encyclopedia of Travel and Tourism Linda L. Lowry, 2016-09-01 Taking a global and multidisciplinary approach The SAGE International Encyclopedia of Travel and Tourism brings together a team of international scholars to examine the travel and tourism industry which is expected to grow at an annual rate of four percent for the next decade In more than 500 entries spanning four comprehensive volumes the Encyclopedia examines the business of tourism around the world paying particular attention to the social economic environmental and policy issues at play The book examines global regional national and local issues including transportation infrastructure the environment and business promotion By looking at travel trends and countries large and small the

Encyclopedia analyses a wide variety of challenges and opportunities facing the industry In taking a comprehensive and global approach the Encyclopedia approaches the field of travel and tourism through the numerous disciplines it reaches including the traditional tourism administration curriculum within schools of business and management economics public policy as well as social science disciplines such as the anthropology and sociology Key features include More than 500 entries authored and signed by key academics in the field Entries on individual countries that details the health of the tourism industry policy and planning approaches promotion efforts and primary tourism draws Additional entries look at major cities and popular destinations Coverage of travel trends such as culinary tourism wine tourism agritourism ecotourism geotourism slow tourism heritage and cultural based tourism sustainable tourism and recreation based tourism Cross references and further readings A Reader s Guide grouping articles by disciplinary areas and broad themes The Field Day Anthology of Irish Writing Seamus Deane,Andrew Carpenter,Angela Bourke,Jonathan Williams,1991 Cambodia Travel Adventures Janet Arrowood,2009 This book is extracted from our much larger guide to Vietnam Laos Cambodia and it focuses on Cambodia primarily Janet Arrowood is a long time and frequent visitor to Southeast Asia Huge lakes tremendous waterfalls elephant rides jungles wonderfu VFR Travel Research Elisa Backer,Brian King,2015-06-01 This is the first book to explore research on visiting friends and relatives VFR In many countries VFR is the largest single travel related market and for some regional economies accounts for over half of all tourism flows In assembling an international collection of quality VFR related research the editors present the profiles characteristics opportunities and behaviours of VFR travel for the benefit of researchers industry practitioners and educators This holistic and international approach to understanding VFR travel provides a state of the art understanding of the context dynamics and implications of VFR travel and will be an essential resource for postgraduate students researchers and also practitioners Travellers, Gypsies, Roma Jean Ryan Hakizimana,2009-10-02 This volume hopes to act as a catalyst for some new and exciting areas of enquiry in the more liminal interstices of Irish Studies Traveller Studies Romani Studies and Diaspora and Migration Studies These disciplines are all relatively new areas of enquiry in modern Ireland a country whose society has witnessed very rapid and wide ranging cultural and demographic change within the short space of a decade The issue of multiculturalism is not one which is particularly new to Irish society as a number of contributors to this volume point out What is new however is an increased acknowledgement of diversity and multiculturalism in Ireland and Europe as a whole Such an acknowledgement makes increased dialogue between mainstream society older minorities such as the Irish Travellers and the many newer immigrant communities such as the Roma all the more necessary For such constructive dialogue to take place it is vital that migratory peoples and their particular expressions of postcolonial identity be voiced and valued These identities are both complex and diverse and frequently straddle a number of countries and national identities It is hoped that this volume will go some way towards the cultivation of such dialogue The Idea of Europe in British Travel Narratives, 1789-1914 Katarina

Gephardt, 2016-03-03 The nineteenth century was the heyday of travel with Britons continually reassessing their own culture in relation to not only the colonized but also other Europeans especially the ones that they encountered on the southern and eastern peripheries of the continent Offering illustrative case studies Katarina Gephardt shows how specific rhetorical strategies used in contemporary travel writing produced popular fictional representations of continental Europe in the works of Ann Radcliffe Lord Byron Charles Dickens and Bram Stoker She examines a wide range of autobiographical and fictional travel narratives to demonstrate that the imaginative geographies underpinning British ideas of Europe emerged from the spaces between fact and fiction Adding texture to her study are her analyses of the visual dimensions of cross cultural representation and of the role of evolving technologies in defining a shared set of rhetorical strategies Gephardt argues that British writers envisioned their country simultaneously as distinct from the Continent and as a part of Europe anticipating the contradictory British discourse around European integration that involves both fear that the European super state will violate British sovereignty and a desire to play a more central role in the European Union Counter-Hegemony and the Irish "Other" Michael Hayes, 2009-10-02 This volume hopes to act as a catalyst for some new and exciting areas of enquiry in the more liminal interstices of Irish Studies Traveller Studies Romani Studies and Diaspora and Migration Studies These disciplines are all relatively new areas of enquiry in modern Ireland a country whose society has witnessed very rapid and wide ranging cultural and demographic change within the short space of a decade The issue of multiculturalism is not one which is particularly new to Irish society as a number of contributors to this volume point out What is new however is an increased acknowledgement of diversity and multiculturalism in Ireland and Europe as a whole Such an acknowledgement makes increased dialogue between mainstream society older minorities such as the Irish Travellers and the many newer immigrant communities such as the Roma all the more necessary For such constructive dialogue to take place it is vital that the voices of Travellers and Roma are listened to and that their distinctive worldview be given due acknowledgement and respect It is hoped that this volume will go some way towards the development of such a process Gypsies and Travellers in Housing Smith, David M., Greenfields, Margaret, 2013-07-17 This original and timely text is the first published research from the UK to address the neglected topic of the increasing and largely enforced settlement of Gypsies and Travellers in conventional housing It highlights the complex and emergent tensions and dynamics inherent when policy and popular discourse combine to frame ethnic populations within a narrative of movement The authors have extensive knowledge of the communities and experience as policy practitioners and researchers and consider the changing culture and dynamics experienced by ethnic Gypsies and Travellers They explore the gendered social health and economic impacts of settlement and demonstrate the tenacity of cultural formations and their adaptability in the face of policy driven constraints that are antithetical to traditional lifestyles The groundbreaking book is essential reading for policy makers professionals and practitioners working with housed Gypsies and Travellers It will also be of interest to sociologists anthropologists social policy and housing specialists and anybody interested in the experiences and responses of marginalized communities in urban and rural settings Royalties for this book are to be divided equally between the Gypsy Council and Travellers Aid Trust
