Dean, 2018-08-06 When we are confronted with images of and memoirs from the Holocaust and subsequent cases of vast cruelty and suffering is our impulse to empathize put at risk by the possibility of becoming numb to horror Carolyn J Dean s provocative new book addresses the ways we evade our failures of empathy in the face of massive suffering Has exposure or overexposure to representations of pain damaged our ability to feel Do the frequent claims that artistic representations of extreme cruelty are pornographic allow us to dodge the real issues that we must confront in attempting to come to terms with suffering Does an excess of terror place constraints on compassion Dean examines the very different representations of suffering found in visual media history writing cultural criticism and journalism that grapple with the assumption that Americans and Western Europeans have been rendered numb and their appropriate human responses blunted by the events of the past century The Fragility of Empathy after the Holocaust will be of interest to all readers concerned with contemporary victim culture Holocaust representation and humanism Trespassing Through Shadows Andrea Liss, 1998 Art historian Andrea Liss examines the inherent difficulties and productive possibilities of using photographs to bear witness initiating a critical dialogue about the ways the post Auschwitz generation has employed these documents to represent Holocaust memory and history 12 color photos 28 bandw photos Postmodern Dilemmas Jan Jagodzinski, 2019-08-22 In Postmodern Dilemmas Outrageous Essays in Art Art Education and Pun k Deconstruction Experimental Writings in Art Art Education jan jagodzinski presents a series of essays covering a timespan of approximately ten years These essays chart the theory and practice of art art education as it relates to issues of postmodernity and poststructuralism concerning representation identity politics consumerism postmodern architecture ecology phallocentrism of the artistic canon pluriculturalism media and technology and AIDS As a former editor of The Journal of Social Theory in Art Education and a founding member for the Caucus on Social Theory in Art Education the author attempts to deconstruct the current art education paradigm which is largely based on modernist tenets and to reorient art education practice to social issues as developed in both media education and cultural studies Part of the intent in these two volumes is to undertake a sustained critique of the 1982 Art in the Mainstream A I M statement which continues to be considered as the core value for art education The distinct intention of this critique is to put forward a new value base for art education in these postmodern times Many of the essays raise the need to be attentive to sex gender issues in art education and the need to read the artistic discourse otherwise There is a sustained critique of the art programs developed by the Getty Center for the Arts whose arts curriculum presents the paradigm case of late modernist thinking Some essays are written in a provocative form that tries to accommodate such content This is particularly the case in Punk Deconstruction where architectural discourse is deconstructed and which includes an artistic performance given by the author in 1987 This singular set of volumes combines scholarship in the areas of gender studies aesthetics art history art education poststructuralism and cultural studies in a unique blend of theory and practice for rethinking the field of art education

Participation in Art and Architecture Martino Stierli, Mechthild Widrich, 2015-10-16 Does participatory art and architecture shape social reality or is it shaped by it Shifting the ground of this debate which tends to assume one or other direction of influence this innovative book explores the inherently dialectic relationship between society and the built environment At the same time it strives for a historically conscious discussion of a very contemporary issue Chapters rethink the top down model of participation and audience activation of high modernism from Alexander Dorner's immersive museum to Mies van der Rohe's rooms for play investigate participation in spaces under political pressure from exhibitions in bombed out buildings in besieged Sarajevo 1992-5 to the art and organizing of revolution in Egypt 2012-13 draw historical parallels between modes of participation and the exercise of power that are seldom compared with one another from sites of occupation in 1968 Mexico and 2011 Spain finally creating links between cartography and feminism and between tourism and internet surveillance With these juxtapositions of the aesthetic and the everyday and the built and the mediated new questions arise is space formed once and for all or is it the changeable product of changeable patterns of use Does the aesthetic always correspond to the political or might an aesthetically authoritarian space be conducive to social justice In exploring these questions this book looks at how participants themselves exert power rather than being victimised or liberated from it Points of Resistance Lauren Rabinovitz,2003 In detailing the relationship of three women filmmakers lives and films to the changing institutions of the post World War II era Lauren Rabinovitz has created the first feminist social history of the North American avant garde cinema At a time when there were few women directors in commercial films the postwar avant garde movement offered an opportunity Rabinovitz argues that avant garde cinema open to women because of its marginal status in the art world included women as filmmakers organizers and critics Focusing on Maya Deren Shirley Clarke and Joyce Wieland Rabinovitz illustrates how women used bold physical images to enhance their work and how each provided entrance to her subversive art while remaining culturally acceptable She combines archival materials with her own interviews to show how the women's labor and films even their identities as women filmmakers were produced disseminated and understood With a new preface and an updated bibliography Points of Resistance simultaneously demonstrates the avant garde's importance as an organizational network for women filmmakers and the processes by which women remained marginal figures within that network Experimental Cinema Wheeler W. Dixon,Gwendolyn Audrey Foster,2002 Brings together key writings on American avant garde cinema to explore the long tradition of underground filmmaking from its origins in the 1920s to the work of contemporary film and video artists

Speaking Truths with Film Bill Nichols,2016-04-05 What issues of both form and content shape the documentary film What role does visual evidence play in relation to a documentary's arguments about the world in which we live Can a documentary be believed and why or why not How do documentaries abide by or subvert ethical expectations Are mockumentaries a form of subversion In what ways can the documentary be an aesthetic experience and at the same time have political or social impact And how can such impacts be empirically measured Pioneering film scholar Bill Nichols investigates the ways in which documentaries strive for accuracy and truthfulness but simultaneously fabricate a form that shapes reality Such films may rely on reenactment to recreate the past storytelling to provide satisfying narratives and rhetorical figures such as metaphor and expressive forms such as irony to make a point In many ways documentaries are a fiction unlike any other With clarity and passion Nichols offers close readings of several provocative documentaries including Land without Bread Restrepo The Thin Blue Line The Act of Killing and Steve Jobs: The Man in the Machine as part of an authoritative examination of the layered approaches and delicate ethical balance demanded of documentary filmmakers Provided by publisher Fights of Fancy George Edgar Slusser,Eric S. Rabkin,1993 This collection of fifteen original essays offers new perspectives on armed conflict as a central aspect of science fiction and fantasy writing Looking past the superficial conventions associated with ray guns and aliens swords and sorcerers the contributors show how writers in the genre today are not so much imagining war more fully as they are completely re imagining it Science fiction and fantasy writing is no longer mired in epic or chivalric models but is responding to new and more complex real world motivations for armed aggression advances in weaponry shifts in the theaters of war and changes in battlefield conditions Most of the papers were presented at the annual J Lloyd Eaton Conference on Science Fiction and Fantasy Literature the field s most prestigious international gathering The trend throughout the book is away from critical interest in stories of spatial or territorial conquest and toward works that deal with topics related to wars of temporal logistics and the internationalization of the combat zone including urban street violence gender conflicts and resistance to runaway technology The essays range from studies of the semantics and linguistics of warfare in science fiction to a critique of Osip Senkovsky s Fantastic Journeys of Baron Brambeus from writer Joe Haldeman s assessment of the impact of his Vietnam experiences on his fiction to inquiries into a shared author reader agenda in novels concerning potential mass destruction including Stephen King s Dead Zone and M J Engh s Arslan The collection also charts new directions in writing such as the anti apocalyptic science fiction of Samuel R Delany and embraces new modes of presentation particularly computer animation and the bande dessinée or illustrated narrative as exemplified by French novelist Phillippe Druillet s La Nuit Musician Bob Marley film actor directors Sylvester Stallone and Bruce Lee and the cyberpunk film classics Terminator and the Road Warrior series are among other topics discussed Together the essays reinforce the editors contention that the true function of these fantasies and science fictions is neither nostalgia nor fancy but analysis The contributors treat the texts they examine as a means not of playing war games but of understanding the role of war in the present and the future

Utopia Post Utopia Institute of Contemporary Art (Boston, Mass.), 1988 Much of the art and art theory of the 1980s has addressed the question Abigail Solomon Godeau asks in her essay for this book whether the art object can carve a place for itself outside the determinations of the already written the already seen the sign Utopia Post Utopia takes up the debate on this issue which has crystallized around the theoretical opposition between nature and culture or more specifically the analysis of a nature human and otherwise which is culturally produced Utopia Post Utopia approaches the nature culture opposition from both the point of view of the lingering nostalgia for an essential nature as well as the aggressive replacement of reality with simulations of both the natural and man made environment It documents two shows a sculptural installation conceived by Robert Gober including work by himself Meg Webster and Richard Prince and an exhibition of photography by James Welling Oliver Wasow Dorit Cypis Lorna Simpson Jeff Wall and Larry Johnson In addition to Abigail Solomon Godeau s contribution essays by Fredric Jameson Alice Jardine Eric Michaud Elisabeth Sussman and David Joselit critically examine such issues as the problematic nature of utopian impulses in recent art Jameson the question of authenticity Jardine the shifting relationship between the represented and real worlds Michaud the phenomenon of collaboration and ensemble in recent art production Sussman and meaning of photographic serialization and superimposition Joselit Distributed for the Institute of Contemporary Art Boston where Elisabeth Sussman is

Chief Curator and David Joselit Curator Fifty Key Writers on Photography Mark Durden, 2013-02-15 A clear and concise survey of some of the most significant writers on photography who have played a major part in defining and influencing our understanding of the medium It provides a succinct overview of writing on photography from a diverse range of disciplines and perspectives and examines the shifting perception of the medium over the course of its 170 year history Key writers discussed include Roland Barthes Susan Sontag Jacques Derrida Henri Cartier Bresson Geoffrey Batchen Fully cross referenced and in an A Z format this is an accessible and engaging introductory guide The Aesthetics of Ambivalence Brooks Landon, 1992-08-30 Brooks Landon's book is wide ranging thought provoking and near state of the art It concerns science fiction film and toward the end almost becomes SF in its provocative speculations on the future of such film His study is really two books in one The first part argues that most criticism of SF film has been inadequate because it is based on literary rather than film specific standards The second argues that SF film will soon become either obsolete or be totally transformed through new computer technology What ties them together is the author's concern with what might be called the SF ethos or SF thinking so that science fiction can be seen to encompass not only SF in print film TV and comic books but has become all pervasive in contemporary culture At present Landon argues that SF film may have exhausted itself as a genre but new electronic technology computer animation interactive narratives and virtual reality promises to radically transform SF film and possibly create a synthesis of the divergent trends of SF literature and film Production technology has become the new story one more interesting than the narrative it ostensibly supports Landon believes we are at the threshold of a new age similar to the pioneer years of filmmaking a hundred years ago Canadian Book Review Annual , 1987
