significant internal reforms before we lose the unique value of middle schools for our nation's adolescents. The Encyclopedia of Middle Grades Education Steven B. Mertens, Vincent A. Anfara, Gayle Andrews, 2005-10-01 The Encyclopedia of Middle Grades Education provides a comprehensive overview of the field. This publication includes seven anchor essays, 5000 words that cover the following topics: the history of the middle school movement, academically excellent curriculum, instruction and assessment, developmental responsiveness in relation to young adolescents, social equity in middle grades schools, leadership in middle level schools, teacher and administrator preparation and professional development, and future directions in relation to the movement practices and policy. Leading scholars in the field of middle grades education were invited to author these essays. In addition to the seven anchor essays, the encyclopedia contains alphabetically organized entries, short entries approximately 500 words long, entries approximately 2000 words that address important concepts, ideas, terms, people, organizations, and seminal publications related to middle grades education. Contributors to the encyclopedia have provided sufficient information so that the reader can place the idea, concept, person, etc. into its proper context in the history of the middle school movement. Entries are meant to be introductory; after an overview of the essentials of the topic, the reader is guided to more extensive sources for further investigation. Where appropriate, the reader is also directed to electronic sources such as websites where additional information can be retrieved.

A Middle School Curriculum James A. Beane, 1993 Thoughtfully and thoroughly reviews the past, analyzes the separate subject approach, and outlines a proposal for a new general education program that would transform the middle level school.

The Modern Middle School Gilbert Hunt, Dennis Wiseman, Sandra Bowden, 2003 Middle school educators are facing many challenges in today's educational and political environment due to the focus on excellence as measured by achievement tests. It is the purpose of this book to provide a discussion of how middle schools can provide a strong standards-based academic program while at the same time remaining focused on the student-centered principles upon which the middle school experience should be based. The text is intended to aid readers in the development of the teaching philosophies, behaviors, and skills relevant to effective instruction in the unique middle school environment. This emphasis reflects the philosophy that teachers ultimately determine the quality of schooling and that the learning environment should be student-centered while maintaining a strong academic foundation. The text begins with an overview of the origins and essential elements of middle schools, proceeds through discussions of middle school teachers, students, schooling structures, and teaching strategies, and concludes with a view of the future. Specifically, chapters offer suggestions for teaching and learning in the middle school environment, for developing essential teaching characteristics, for creating a positive middle school climate, for planning the curriculum, for providing developmentally appropriate instruction, and for assessing and reporting student progress. This outstanding new edition provides a comprehensive, current, and cohesive text that allows the reader to more clearly understand the nature and importance of significant standards issues and developments within the ongoing evolution of the modern American middle demonstrated that certain factors such as school geographical location and respondents job duty job title and gender make a difference in how participants perceive their school s culture Teachers and principals from a less economically developed district had less awareness of involvement in and understanding of school culture development in all its aspects A notable gap between teachers and principals was identified in their perception of the core values and norms of the school and of communication between teachers and principals This study suggests that for educational development to be further carried forward successfully there is an urgent need for better distribution of educational resources both financial and leadership common understanding agreed upon goals and efficient communication between principals and teachers
