Dunlop's translations read elegantly and his selection of modern Japanese Stories is both fresh and persuasive. Donald Keene, Japanese scholar, historian, teacher, writer, and translator of Japanese literature. The fourteen distinct voices of this collection tell fourteen very different stories spanning sixty years of twentieth-century Japanese literature. They include a nostalgic portrait of an aristocratic Meiji family in Kafu Nagai's The Fox, a surprisingly cheerful celebration of postwar chaos in Sakaguchi Ango's One Woman and the War, a chilly assessment of the modern society in Watanabe Junichi's Invitation to Suicide, and much more. The writers also represent a wide spectrum from renowned figure of Yasunari Kawabata, winner of the Nobel Prize for Literature in 1968, to authors whose works have never before been translated into English. Westerners familiar only with stereotypical images of bowing geisha and dark-suited businessmen will be surprised by the cast of characters. Translator Lane Dunlop introduces in this anthology. Lovers of fiction and student of Japan are certain to find these stories absorbing, engaging, and instructive.

Coyote's Song Richard D. Erlich, 2009-12-01 A major study of the major and minor fiction, poetry, and children's books of SF and fantasy writer Ursula K. Le Guin. As Le Guin herself writes, "It is written in English, not academese, and will be of interest to a wide spectrum of students, scholars, and interested readers."

The Mandarin (and other stories) Jose Maria Eca de Queiroz, 2011-03-16 Eca de Queiroz, 1845-1900, is considered to be Portugal's greatest novelist and one of its finest prose writers. In The Mandarin, he turns his satirical eye on the sin of avarice and asks the following question: "In the depths of China, there lives a mandarin who is richer than any king spoken of in fable or in history. You know nothing about him: not his name, his face, or the silks that he wears. In order for you to inherit his limitless wealth, all you have to do is to ring the bell placed on a book by your side. In that remote corner of Mongolia, he will utter a single sigh. He will then be a corpse, and at your feet, you will see gold beyond the dreams of avarice." Mortal reader, will you ring the bell? When Teodoro, our timid, lowly narrator, says "Yes," he finds that fabulous wealth brings with it unexpected problems.

The three very different stories that complete the collection: The Idiosyncrasies of a Young Blonde Woman, The Hanged Man, and Jos Matias are all tales of obsessive love, each told with Eca's irrepressible wit and originality. A brilliant, mischievous essay in fantasy chinoiserie irreverently subverting the trope created half a century earlier by Balzac in La Peau de chagrin, of the Oriental curse masquerading as a blessing. In the same Dedalus collection of Eca's short fiction lies a late gem, Jose Matias, a love story told at a funeral by a Hegelian philosopher in which the issue of the narrator's own relationship with reality adds a comically ambiguous layer to the tale.
