The Face In The Mirror:

The Face in the Mirror Victoria Zackheim, When you were young and idealistic who was the person you saw in the mirror What were your expectations and those of your family and community And now that you re older and have attained prominence how do you feel about the person you have become and the direction your life has actually taken Malachy McCourt Joyce Maynard Alan Dershowitz and Eileen Goudge are among twenty celebrated authors in this unique collection who tackle meaningful questions about the choices made their achievements and their disappointments In their reflective essays they explore the person they expected to become or perhaps desperately wanted to be or feared they might be and the person they are today How does all of this knowledge and insight affect their writing Their responses which range from surprising to heart wrenching to comical to inspiring reflect back on the reader who is left with the same question that these eminent writers ask themselves When I look in that mirror who do I see Beverly Donofrio Sandra Gulland Michael Bader Aimee Liu and Leon Whiteson are among the other contributors whose eloquent pieces are certain to captivate and make you see the world and yourself afresh Victoria Zackheim San Francisco CA is the author of The Bone Weaver and editor of two other anthologies The Other Woman 21 Wives Lovers and Others Talk Openly about Sex Deception Love and Betrayal GrandCentral and For Keeps Women Tell the Truth about Their Bodies Growing Older and Acceptance Seal Press Zackheim is story developer and writer of the documentary film Tracing Thalidomide The Francis Kelsey Story now in development with On the Road Productions writer of More Than a Poet s Daughter The Story of Ada Byron Lovelace On the Road Productions and coproducer and writer of the documentary When G I Joe Is a Muslim On the Road Productions Victoria teaches in the UCLA Extension Writers Program and writes records commentaries for The Mimi Georges Show XM Satellite and public radio

The Face in the Mirror Julian Paul Keenan, Julian Keenan, Gordon G. Gallup, Dean Falk, 2004-07-06 We ve all witnessed this moment a dog a cat or another animal reacting to its own reflection in the mirror treating it as another animal to be played with or confronted As human beings we take self recognition for granted but this seemingly simple ability represents one of the most complex mysteries of neuroscience The Face in the Mirror takes readers on a lively tour of the neurological anthropological and psychological roots of self recognition from the intricate network in the brain that enables higher primates to recognize their image to complex self related emotions such as humor embarrassment and jealousy that play a crucial role in our evolution and survival From animals who share our ability for self recognition to case studies of patients who no longer recognize who they are the authors examine some of the latest evidence on a subject that has puzzled philosophers and scientists for millennia how do we know who we are

Someone Else's Face in the Mirror Carla Bluhm, Nathan Clendenin, 2009-04-30 In 2005 surgeons in France removed part of the face from a cadaver and grafted it onto the head of a 38 year old woman grossly disfigured by a dog attack Three years later in December 2008 surgeons at the Cleveland Clinic announced they had performed the first U S face transplant Although modern culture is accustomed to pushing medicine and the human body beyond all limits the world's first partial face transplant and the seven that have followed have caused a stir that still reverberates globally This book begins with the story of Isabelle Dinoire the recipient of the first face transplant and chronicles her surgery and battles with tissue rejection Its scope widens with a look at how surgical teams including three U S transplant teams are in a global race to perform the first full face transplant and at how medical history has led up to this point with prior successful transplants ranging from body parts as simple as cornea to those as neurologically complicated as the heart a hand and a penis The most novel among these surgeries the face transplant conjures up particular and expansive psychological issues Authors Bluhm and Clendenin show how transplant recipients struggle with functional issues including a lifetime of anti rejection drugs a danger highlighted by the recent death of the second face transplant patient in China But just as challenging in the case of face transplant is the psychological effect on and potential threat to identity Who are you if suddenly your face or a significant portion of it is not what you were born with What is it like to look in the mirror and see a face that is not the one you have always had Dinoire lamented It will never be me That statement is an absolute simplification of the identity issues a face transplant can create explain the authors Bluhm and Clendenin show how across history and media humankind via medicine literature film and other media has dreamed of a day when face transplants would be possible With so many disfigurements occurring among the military in Iraq and experimental face transplants too expensive for implementation in the private sector it is likely that the U S military will take the reins and further face transplant techniques as quickly as possible to serve injured personnel

The Mirror of the Self Shadi Bartsch, 2006-07-03 People in the ancient world thought of vision as both an ethical tool and a tactile sense akin to touch Gazing upon someone or oneself was treated as a path to philosophical self knowledge but the question of tactility introduced an erotic element as well In The Mirror of the Self Shadi Bartsch asserts that these links among vision sexuality and self knowledge are key to the classical understanding of the self Weaving together literary theory philosophy and social history Bartsch traces this complex notion of self from Plato's Greece to Seneca's Rome She starts by showing how ancient authors envisioned the mirror as both a tool for ethical self improvement and paradoxically a sign of erotic self indulgence Her reading of the Phaedrus for example demonstrates that the mirroring gaze in Plato because of its sexual possibilities could not be adopted by Roman philosophers and their students Bartsch goes on to examine the Roman treatment of the ethical and sexual gaze and she traces how self knowledge the philosopher s body and the performance of virtue all played a role in shaping the Roman understanding of the nature of selfhood Culminating in a profoundly original reading of Medea The Mirror of the Self illustrates how Seneca in his Stoic quest for self knowledge embodies the Roman view marking a new point in human thought about self perception Bartsch leads readers on a journey that unveils divided selves moral hypocrisy and lustful Stoics and offers fresh insights about seminal works At once sexy and philosophical The Mirror of the Self will be required reading for classicists philosophers and anthropologists alike The Face Daniel McNeill,2000-07 This natural history of the face unravels the surprising mysteries of one of the most familiar sights in everyday life exploring the face s anatomy its singularity its ability to communicate and its beauty Maternal Ethics and Other Slave Moralities Cynthia Willett,2013-12-19 In Maternal Ethics and Other Slave Moralities which includes the first extended philosophical discussion of the works of Frederick Douglass Cynthia Willett puts forward a novel theory of ethical subjectivity that is aimed to counter prevailing pathologies of sexist racist Eurocentric culture Weaving together accounts of the self drawn from African American and European philosophies psychoanalysis slave narratives and sociology Willett interrogates what Hegel locates as the core of the self the desire for A Lousy Start Jacobaris,2010-11 Prior to the stock market crash in 1929 Holland was a prosperous country where its people enjoyed secure futures or so they thought After the world s economic collapse millions were forced into a poverty stricken existence where every day was a struggle to survive A Lousy Start shares one family s vivid impressions of living in Holland during the Great Depression and the lasting impact those experiences had on their lives At the beginning of the twentieth century Arie Demerwe worked hard and was paid very little but still managed to put food on his table Sent to fight in the war of 1918 Arie finally returned to his hometown where he began working again only to see everything change again after the end of World War I As the people of Holland enjoyed wealth they assumed would last forever dark changes loomed ahead When the sun rose on October 23 1929 no one had a clue that tragedy would strike by day s end For the next ten years a hostile world would transform even the most religious people into thieves and liars As one family fought to stay alive in a bleak existence each of them learned valuable life lessons they would carry with them forever

The Oxford Compendium of Visual Illusions Arthur Gilman Shapiro,Dejan Todorović,2017 Visual illusions are compelling phenomena that draw attention to the brain s capacity to construct our perceptual world The Compendium is a collection of over 100 chapters on visual illusions written by the illusion creators or by vision scientists who have investigated mechanisms underlying the phenomena Loving Yusuf Mieke Bal,2008-09-15 When Mieke Bal reread the story of Joseph and Potiphar s wife as an adult she was struck by differences between her childhood memories of a moral tale and what she read today In Loving Yusuf Bal seeks to resolve this clash between memory and text using the same story in which Joseph spurns the advance of his master s wife who then falsely accuses him of rape as her point of departure She juxtaposes the Genesis tale to the rather different version told in the Qur an and the depictions of it by Rembrandt and explores how

Thomas Mann's great retelling in Joseph and His Brothers reworks these versions. Through this inquiry she develops concepts for the analysis of texts that are both strange and overly familiar, culturally remote yet constantly retold. As she puts personal memories in dialogue with scholarly exegesis, Bal asks how all of these different versions complicate her own and others' experience of the story and how the different truths of these texts in their respective traditions illuminate the process of canonization.

Peanut King Zee Avery, 2014-09-10 This book spans generations of extremely horrible evil deeds culminating from one family. From the Grandpa to the Daddy to the son and ending with the grandson. As a result, the grandson pays the ultimate price for his family's sins. The grandson bears his family's curse. As a result, he is transformed into the hideous supernatural monster on Halloween night now known as the Peanut King.

Models of the Self Shaun Gallagher, 2013-10-22 A long history of inquiry about human nature and the self stretches from the ancient tradition of Socratic self-knowledge in the context of ethical life to contemporary discussions of brain function in cognitive science. It begins with a conflict among the ancients. On one view, which comes to be represented most clearly by Aristotle, the issue is settled in terms of a composite and very complex human nature. Who I am is closely tied to my embodied existence. The other view, found as early as the Pythagoreans and developed in the writings of Plato, Augustine, and Descartes, held that genuine humanness is not the result of an integration of lower functions but a purification of those functions in favour of a liberating spirituality. The animal elements are excluded from the human essence. The modern debate on the problem of the self, although owing much to the insights of Locke and Hume, can still be situated within the context of the two schools of ancient thought, and this has led many to despair over the lack of apparent progress in this problem. Today, of course, we often tend to look to science rather than philosophy to develop our understanding of a wide range of fundamental issues. To what extent is the problem of the self a scientific issue? Can insights from the study of neuropsychology and cognitive development in infancy provide a new perspective? Can the study of schizophrenia and dissociative identity disorders tell us anything about the nature of human self-consciousness? Many would answer yes to the above questions, but then is it not also the case that the study of exceptional self-actualised human experience is equally relevant? And can the phenomenological tradition dedicated to the systematic study of human experience and contemporary analytic approaches in philosophy help us out of some of the impasses that have bedevilled the empiricist tradition? MODELS OF THE SELF includes all these perspectives in an attempt to cast light on one of the most intractable problems in science and the humanities.

Baby Boomers, Age, and Beauty Naomi Woodspring, 2018-10-01 Drawing from a variety of sources from ageing research, history, and gender studies, this book is a rich exploration of the baby boomers: those coming of age in the sixties and now entering old age, the influences that have shaped how they perceive ageing appearance define ageing and beauty and the meaning of appearance beauty and identity

More is never enough! Tony Rose,2012 All I Really Need to Know I Learned from Watching Star Trek Dave Marinaccio,2012-07-04 How to win at poker The power of a business s mission statement If you can dial a telephone you can do anything These are the lessons to be learned from Star Trek First a hit television show and then a pop culture phenomenon Star Trek is now the basis for inspiration and guidance in our daily lives ALL I REALLY NEED TO KNOW I LEARNED FROM WATCHING STAR TREK is an anthology of valuable lessons that can be found within the episodes of Star Trek Discover why its dangerous to wear a plain red shirt why Captain Kirk was such a superb leader and why you should always help people in need Intelligent Life Kouitsu Yokoyama,2015-08-11 A systematic approach to making intelligent use of our lives forget the self live more fully for others and find happiness deep within The idea that our experiences in life are shaped by our own minds is fundamental to Buddhist philosophy An Intelligent Life uses the principles of Buddhist philosophy to explore how best to make use of our lives in order to benefit ourselves and others Building on the foundation of core Buddhist concepts like the ego interdependence and karma Professor Yokoyama presents a uniquely practical application of Buddhist philosophy By understanding how intimately our own habits of mind are related to the world that we experience we begin to see how many of our everyday actions are founded on ignorance rather than intelligence If you steadily work to transform your everyday habits through meditation and reflection on the true nature of your experiences you will come to forget your ego feel more closely related to others and gain access to the inestimable well of happiness and health that rests within Learning to see ourselves and the world for what they truly are we learn how to live truly intelligent lives
