Out of the Ruins Robert H. Haworth,John M. Elmore,2017-07-01 Contemporary educational practices and policies across the world are heeding the calls of Wall Street for more corporate control privatization and standardized accountability There are definite shifts and movements towards more capitalist interventions of efficiency and an adherence to market fundamentalist values within the sphere of public education In many cases educational policies are created to uphold and serve particular social political and economic ends Schools in a sense have been tools to reproduce hierarchical authoritarian and hyper individualistic models of social order From the industrial era to our recent expansion of the knowledge economy education has been at the forefront of manufacturing and exploiting particular populations within our society The important news is that emancipatory educational practices are emerging Many are emanating outside the constraints of our dominant institutions and are influenced by more participatory and collective actions In many cases these alternatives have been undervalued or even excluded within the educational research From an international perspective some of these radical informal learning spaces are seen as a threat by many failed states and corporate entities Out of the Ruins sets out to explore and discuss the emergence of alternative learning spaces that directly challenge the pairing of public education with particular dominant capitalist and statist structures The authors construct philosophical political economic and social arguments that focus on radical informal learning as a way to contest efforts to commodify and privatize our everyday educational experiences The major themes include the politics of learning in our formal settings constructing new theories on our informal practices collective examples of how radical informal learning practices and experiences operate and how individuals and collectives struggle to share these narratives within and outside of institutions Contributors include David Gabbard Rhiannon Firth Andrew Robinson Farhang Rouhani Petar Jandri Ana Kuzmani Sarah Amsler Dana Williams Andre Pusey Jeff Shantz Sandra Jeppesen Joanna Adamiak Erin Dyke Eli Meyerhoff David I Backer Matthew Bissen Jacques Laroche Aleksandra Perisic and Jason Wozniak National Library of Medicine Current Catalog National Library of Medicine (U.S.),1983 Indonesian Women in a Changing Society E.
