Through the Eyes of the Heart Lisa Leon, 2012-06-27 Through The Eyes Of The Heart was inspired by a dream and a message from my guardian angel Maria It was the year 2009 when images of the Sacred Heart began to appear to me in many different places and at this time I began to have direct communication with our beloved Maria During visits to a local church Maria would make her presence known to me and allow me to photograph her Maria has asked me to share my images with the world to use these images to teach others that they need to see through the eyes of the heart We usually want proof that something exists as our minds have been conditioned to not see what lies before us and I hope the messages and images I have to share will do just that From my heart to yours I hope to take you on a journey of what lies beyond so that you may get out of your head and into your heart and see that there is much more to our existence than what lies before us

The Senses of Scripture Yael Avrahami, 2012-06-15 The Senses of Scripture reveals the essence of biblical epistemology the ways in which ancient Israelites thought about and used their sensorium The theoretical introduction demonstrates that scholars need to liberate themselves from the Western bias that holds a pentasensory paradigm and prioritises the sense of sight The discussion of the biblical material demonstrates that biblical scholars should follow a similar path Through examination of associative and contextual patterns the author reaches a septasensory model including sight hearing speech kinaesthesia touch taste and smell It is further demonstrated that the senses according to the HB are a divinely created physical experience which symbolised human ability to act in a sovereign manner in the world Despite the lack of a biblical Hebrew term sense it seems that at times the merism sight and hearing serves that matter Finally the book discusses the longstanding dispute regarding the primacy of sight vs hearing and claims that although there is no strict sensory hierarchy evident in the text sight holds a central space in biblical epistemology
