enduring interest as Sir Richard Burton A true polymath Burton is best known today for his translations of the Kama Sutra and Arabian Nights Yet Africa stood at the center of his adult life The Burton Speke expedition 1856-59 that put Lake Tanganyika on the map led to years of controversy over the source of the White Nile From 1861 to 1864 Burton served as British consul in Fernando Po and traveled widely between Ghana and Angola He wrote prodigiously and contributed some of the first detailed ethnographic accounts of Africa's peoples In many ways however Africa proved to be Burton's undoing Injuries and sickness sapped his strength he made enemies in high places and ironically even the discovery of Lake Tanganyika worked to his disadvantage Increasingly frustrated and bitter he turned to alcohol as a frequent remedy In this fascinating story of the relationship between a man and a continent geographer James L Newman provides an intimate portrait of Burton through careful examination of his journals and biographers' rich analyses Delving deepest into Burton's later life and travels Newman pinpoints the thematic mainstays of his career as a diplomat and explorer namely his strong advocacy of aggressive imperial policies and his belief that race explained crucial human differences Historians and scholars of the golden age of empire as well as armchair adventurers will not only discover what defined this famously enigmatic figure but venture themselves into the heart of mid-nineteenth century Africa
