This book explores the ways in which religion is observed performed and organised in skateboard culture Drawing on scholarship from the sociology of religion and the cultural politics of lifestyle sports this work combines ethnographic research with media analysis to argue that the rituals of skateboarding provide participants with a rich cultural canvas for emotional and spiritual engagement Paul O Connor contends that religious identification in skateboarding is set to increase as participants pursue ways to both control and engage meaningfully with an activity that has become an increasingly mainstream and institutionalised sport Religion is explored through the themes of myth celebrity iconography pilgrimage evangelism cults and self help Skateboarding and Femininity Dani Abulhawa,2020-08-27

Skateboarding and Femininity explores and highlights the value of femininity both within skateboarding and wider culture This book examines skateboarding s relationship to gender politics through a consideration of the personal politics connected to individual skateboarders the social spatial arenas in which skateboarding takes place and by understanding the performance of tricks and symbolic movements as part of gender based power dynamics Dani Abulhawa anaylses the discursive frameworks connected to skateboarding philanthropic projects and how these operate through gendered tropes Through the author s work with skateboarding charity SkatePal this book offers an alternative way of recognising the value of skateboarding philanthropy projects proposing a move toward a more open and explorative somatic practice perspective

Skateboarding and the City Iain Borden,2019-02-21 Skateboarding is both a sport and a way of life Creative physical graphic urban and controversial it is full of contradictions a billion dollar global industry which still retains its vibrant counter cultural heart Skateboarding and the City presents the only complete history of the sport exploring the story of skate culture from the surf beaches of 60s California to the latest developments in street skating today Written by a life long skater who also happens to be an architectural historian and packed through with full colour images of skaters boards moves graphics and film stills this passionate readable and rigorously researched book explores the history of skateboarding and reveals a vivid understanding of how skateboarders through their actions experience the city and its architecture in a unique way Oralism and Aurilism ,1922 Rezbrowsers and Skate Elders David Kamper,2025-06 Ethnographer and

American Indian studies scholar David Kamper examines how Indigenous youth and adults are making basketball and skateboarding meaningful to their communities by sustaining the transmission of intergenerational knowledge and combatting intergenerational trauma Kamper looks at how the events and tournaments built around rezball are similar to powwows in how they bring people together across localized communities and generations and he coins the phrase skate elders for those who use the social nature of skateboarding to build community and mentorships Through a broad picture of North America Kamper demonstrates how Native peoples have long indigenized cultural practices and material culture to assert Native sovereignty creating joy and hope in the process In Rezballers and Skate Elders Kamper considers how Native expressions of basketball and skateboarding show continuities with the historical transformation of practices that originated outside Indian Country to make them meaningful in Native life David Kamper is a professor of American Indian studies associate director and cofounder of the Center for Skateboarding Action Sports and Social Change and cofounder of Surf Skate Studies Collaborative at San Diego State University He is the author of The Work of Sovereignty Tribal Labor Relations and Self Determination at the Navajo Nation and coeditor of Waves of Belonging Indigeneity Race and Gender in the Surfing Lineup
