Kamalamani, 2016-04-29 Choosing to have children is a private decision with global consequences. Other Than Mother explores the decision-making process around not having children. It is in three parts: Part I, The Worldly Winds, explores the backdrop to deciding whether or not to have children, including the cultural changes brought about by a rise in voluntary intentional childlessness; Part II, A Private Decision with Global Consequences, explores the pros and cons in the decision-making process, including ecological and environmental considerations; Part III, New Horizons and Baby-sized Projects, explores living with the decision. Inclusion of Disabled Children in Primary School Playgrounds Marc Armitage, Helen Woolley, 2006-06-07 A concise, useful book based on research which identifies organisational, social, and physical barriers to disabled children's inclusion in playgrounds. It suggests ways to overcome these barriers in the future.

Leaving No Child Behind? Frederick M. Hess, Chester E. Finn, Jr., 2004-10 NCLB is the signal domestic policy initiative of the Bush administration and the most ambitious piece of federal education legislation in at least thirty-five years. Mandating a testing regime to force schools to continually improve student performance, it uses school choice and additional learning resources as sticks and carrots intended to improve low-performing schools and districts. The focus is on improving alternatives to children in low-performing schools. Here, top experts evaluate the potential and the problems of NCLB in its initial stages of implementation. This first look provides valuable insights, offering lessons crucial to understanding this dramatic change in American education. Children at War Peter W. Singer, 2015-03-04 Children at War is the first comprehensive book to examine the growing and global use of children as soldiers. P. W. Singer, an internationally recognized expert in twenty-first century warfare, explores how a new strategy of war, utilized by armies and warlords alike, has targeted children, seeking to turn them into soldiers and terrorists. Singer writes about how the first American serviceman killed by hostile fire in Afghanistan, a Green Beret, was shot by a fourteen-year-old Afghan boy; how suspected militants detained by U.S. forces in Iraq included more than one hundred children under the age of seventeen; and how hundreds who were taken hostage in Thailand were held captive by the rebel God's Army, led by twelve-year-old twins. Interweaving the voices of child soldiers throughout the book, Singer looks at the ways these children are recruited, abducted, trained, and finally sent off to fight in war-torn hot spots from Colombia and the Sudan to Kashmir and Sierra Leone. He writes about children who have been indoctrinated to fight U S forces in Iraq and Afghanistan of Iraqi boys between the ages of ten and fifteen who had been trained in military arms and tactics to become Saddam Hussein s Ashbal Saddam Lion Cubs of young refugees from Pakistani madrassahs who were recruited to help bring the Taliban to power in the Afghan civil war The author National Security Fellow at the Brookings Institution and director of the Brookings Project on U S Policy Towards the Islamic World explores how this phenomenon has come about and how social disruptions and failures of development in modern Third World nations have led to greater global conflict and an instability that has spawned a new pool of recruits He writes about how technology has made today s weapons smaller and lighter and therefore easier for children to carry and handle how one billion people in the world live in developing countries where civil war is part of everyday life and how some children without food clothing or family have volunteered as soldiers as their only way to survive Finally Singer makes clear how the U S government and the international community must face this new reality of modern warfare how those who benefit from the recruitment of children as soldiers must be held accountable how Western militaries must be prepared to face children in battle and how rehabilitation programs can undo this horrific phenomenon and turn child soldiers back into children

Demanding Child Care Natalie M. Fousekis, 2011-08-01 During World War II as women stepped in to fill jobs vacated by men in the armed services the federal government established public child care centers in local communities for the first time When the government announced plans to withdraw funding and terminate its child care services at the end of the war women in California protested and lobbied to keep their centers open even as these services rapidly vanished in other states Analyzing the informal networks of cross class and cross race reformers policymakers and educators Demanding Child Care Women s Activism and the Politics of Welfare 1940 1971 traces the rapidly changing alliances among these groups During the early stages of the childcare movement feminists Communists and labor activists banded together only to have these alliances dissolve by the 1950s as the movement welcomed new leadership composed of working class mothers and early childhood educators In the 1960s when federal policymakers earmarked child care funds for children of women on welfare and children described as culturally deprived it expanded child care services available to these groups but eventually eliminated public child care for the working poor Deftly exploring the possibilities for partnership as well as the limitations among these key parties Fousekis helps to explain the barriers to a publically funded comprehensive child care program in the United States Family Economics and Nutrition Review, 2004
