Ian Shin, 2025-07-22 From the Gilded Age to World War II elite collectors and museums in the United States transformed from owning a smattering of Chinese porcelain as curios to possessing some of the world s largest and most sophisticated collections of Chinese art Imperial Stewards argues that beyond aesthetic taste and economics geopolitics were critical to this transformation Collecting and studying Chinese art and antiquities honed Americans belief that they should dominate Asia and the Pacific Ocean through the ideology of imperial stewardship a view that encompassed both genuine curiosity and care for Chinese art and the enduring structures of domination and othering that underpinned the burgeoning transpacific art market Tracing both transatlantic and transpacific networks across the Pacific and the Atlantic K Ian Shin uncovers a diverse cast of historical actors that both contributed to US imperial stewardship and also challenged it including Protestant missionaries German diplomats Chinese Hawaiian merchants and Chinese overseas students among others By examining the development of Chinese art collecting and scholarship in the United States around the turn of the twentieth century Imperial Stewards reveals both the cultural impetus behind

Americans long standing aspirations for a Pacific Century and a way to understand and critique the duality of US imperial power around the globe Business Week ,2003 Iron Will Terry S. Reynolds, Virginia P. Dawson, 2011-03-15 The history of Cleveland Cliffs a company that played a key role in iron mining development in the Lake Superior region In Iron Will Cleveland Cliffs and the Mining of Iron Ore 1847 2006 Terry S Reynolds and Virginia P Dawson tell the story of Cleveland Cliffs the only surviving independent American iron mining company now known as Cliffs Natural Resources Headquartered in Cleveland Ohio Cleveland Cliffs played a major role in the opening and development of the Lake Superior mining district and Michigan s Upper Peninsula Through Cleveland Cliffs history Reynolds and Dawson examine major transitions in the history of the American iron and steel industry from the perspective of an important raw materials supplier Reynolds and Dawson trace Cleveland Cliffs beginnings around 1850 its growth under Samuel L Mather and his son William G Mather its emergence as an important player in the growing national iron ore market and its tribulations during the Great Depression The authors explore the company s fortunes after World War II when Cleveland Cliffs developed technologies to tap into vast reserves of low grade Michigan iron ore and turned to joint ventures and strategic partnerships to raise the capital needed to implement them The authors also explain how the company became the largest independent producer of iron ore in the United States by purchasing the mining interests of its bankrupt partners during the implosion of the American steel industry in the late twentieth and early twenty first centuries Reynolds and Dawson detail Cleveland Cliffs evolving efforts to deal with labor from its early mostly immigrant workforce to its ambitious program of welfare capitalism in the early twentieth century to its struggles with organized labor after World War II Iron Will is a thorough well organized history based on extensive archival research and interviews with company personnel This story will appeal to scholars interested in industrial or mining history business historians and those interested in Great Lakes and Michigan history Tales from Family Therapy

Thorana S Nelson, Terry S Trepper, Frank N Thomas, 2014-06-03 You often see books on theoretical approaches and new interventions in therapy but you rarely if ever find a book where therapists discuss their personal reactions to and views of the therapy they offer In this amazing volume Tales from Family Therapy Life Changing Clinical Experiences psychologists psychotherapists and marriage and family counselors come together to share their unique experiences in therapy sessions and how they ve learned that often the clients know more than they do As you will see and as these therapists reveal sometimes all the top notch and most innovative theories in the world won t help a client in distress Tales from Family Therapy isn t just about therapists learning a lesson or two from their clients It s about compassion healing being taken by surprise thinking on your toes and encouraging people to believe in their strengths not just their weaknesses These stories represent to the authors some of the most special most rewarding and most puzzling moments in all their years of therapy They invite you to share in their recollections and discussions of the power of speaking accepting respecting and working with the realities clients bring the importance of first impressions in counseling how personal narratives develop through relationship coloring outside the lines of the dominant culture helping clients determine when rocking the boat is needed listening to your clients and not just your theories developing the self of therapist In the therapy room anything can happen and as Tales from Family Therapy shows anything does Graduate students counselors licensed therapists family educators and family sciences professionals as well as lay readers will find this insightful book a helpful forum where the struggles doubts and triumphs of psychotherapy are revealed to encourage and inspire those who participate in the therapeutic process

Traveling Light Jim Stowell, 1988 Stowell's stories have a wicked Huck Finn innocence These autobiographical monologues of his adventures on the road enthrall audiences at his one man shows from his first description of succumbing to the lure of travel as a boy on a bike in McAllen Texas to the tale of the cold night he tried to dodge the Devil outside

Wallace Idaho Curating Archaeological Collections Lynne P. Sullivan, Terry S. Childs, 2003-03-12 Curation is rarely the first topic raised in an archaeological seminar or addressed in a fieldwork design And the authors point out it is too rarely discussed at all But the current crisis in repository space has increased awareness that the long term conservation and preservation of the material remains and field notes of an archaeological project are as important as the finds themselves Sullivan and Childs two experienced archaeologists and museum professionals provide an introductory guide to curation for archaeologists Crucial to this process is the recognition of curation issues before the first day of fieldwork and continuous involvement of curators in the process throughout the archaeological project The authors provide guidance on how to manage a collection what to do with field notes and other project documents how to find a repository for the collection and how to adjust field practices so that the process runs smoothly This brief practical guide will be invaluable to all field archaeologists and their students and to museum professionals who curate archaeological collections Report of Cases Determined in the Supreme Court and Court of Appeals of the State of New Mexico New Mexico.
