Sport And Violence In Europe:

Sport and Violence in Europe Dominique Bodin, Luc Robène, Stéphane Héas, 2005-01-01 This book aims to pull together the main themes relevant to the relationship between sport and violence using information from the media court reports statistics and research The topics covered include football grounds and violence the links between sport politics and violence the way it is treated in the media violence directed at minority groups and the economic perspective Research Handbook on EU Sports Law and Policy Jack Anderson, Richard Parrish, Borja García, 2018-07-27 The EU's influence on sport has traditionally focused on the socio economic and cultural impact This Research Handbook on EU Sports Law explores the development of the European dimension in sport and the concomitant legal issues including competition law state aid and free movement of persons The application of such areas of EU law to sport and the influence of EU law on key policy issues such as doping match fixing and governance are detailed in this comprehensive collection The topical chapters by experts in their field also touch upon the future evolution of EU sports law Sport and violence in Europe, 2005 Hooliganism violent behavior in stadiums a notable increase in racist and xenophobic attitudes doping corruption cheating wheeling and dealing has sport lost its fun side and become a serious social activity Can it escape the influence of big business and political interference Does its prominence in the media give rise to violent expression Young people who no longer recognise social values have turned sport into a means of expressing the distress and problems they are facing in their own lives Does the often dubious relationship between sport business and politics and the glorification of performance as a universal model lead to an economic and mental form of violence Dominique Bodin Luc Rob ne St phane H as Ethics and Sport in Europe Dominique Bodin, Gaëlle Sempé, 2011-01-01 Defending ethics in sport is vital in order to combat the problems of corruption violence drugs extremism and other forms of discrimination it is currently facing Sport reflects nothing more and nothing less than the societies in which it takes place However if sport is to continue to bring benefits for individuals and societies it cannot afford to neglect its ethical values or ignore these scourges The major role of the Council of Europe and the Enlarged Partial Agreement on Sport EPAS in addressing the new challenges to sports ethics was confirmed by the 11th Council of Europe Conference of Ministers responsible for Sport held in Athens on 11 and 12 December 2008 A political impetus was given on 16 June 2010 by the Committee of Ministers with the adoption of an updated version of the Code of Sports Ethics Recommendation CM Rec 2010 9 emphasising the requisite co ordination between governments and sports organisations The EPAS prepared the ministerial conference and stepped up its work in an international conference organised with the University of Rennes which was attended by political leaders athletes researchers and officials from the voluntary sector The key experiences described in the conference and the thoughts that it prompted are described in this publication All the writers share the concern that the end result should be practical action particularly in terms of the setting of standards that falls within the remit of the EPAS and promotes the Council of Europe's core values Insecurities in European Football and Supporter Cultures Jan Andre Lee Ludvigsen, 2025-02-06 Against the backdrop of the recent and renewed political and policy interest in the safety and security in European football contexts this book examines the ways in which the regulation of insecurities in European football has been advanced by European institutions and organizations and contested by football supporters from the 1980s to the present day This book therefore produces an updated empirical but theoretically informed account of how insecurities in football have been responded to and countered on a European level through expressions of power and counter power By drawing on material from interviews and analyses of international legal texts policy documents and historical football fanzines Insecurities in European Football and Supporter Cultures uses European football as a window to understand wider processes of in security and the regulation of cultures social groups and contested spaces Utilizing perspectives from contemporary sociology and critical security studies this book produces the argument that as institutions risk focused logics and precautionary principles have been embedded in the attempts to secure European football it is simultaneously possible to observe a reflexive culture of contestation that has matured across four decades in European football Insecurities in European Football and Supporter Cultures is an important fascinating and timely reading for anybody with an interest in the sociology of sport football security studies surveillance social theory and sport studies Etude Des appendix to this report There is a lack of competence for sport under existing EU treaties though not under the Reform or Lisbon treaty The report examines the content of the white paper and sport and EU law in detail The Committee believes that sport has distinctive characteristics that need to be taken into account in the application of EU law Much of the white paper is useful in exploring scope for using existing networks and programmes to support participation in sport But the Committee does not believe there is any justification or necessity for the Commission to take a more active role in driving the development of policy on sport and notes the alarm created by the lack of a clear statement on the autonomy of sports organisations Governing bodies of sport should have the freedom to decide for themselves how their sport is run
