Noted historian Joan M Jensen spent more than a decade delving into the lives of a remarkable range of women who lived during the mid nineteenth through the early twentieth century's. These individuals shared many struggles as economies evolved from logging to dairying to tourism. Facing many challenges they cared for their sick, educated their children, maintained their cultural identity and preserved their own means of worship. Entwining the experiences of Native and settler communities, Jensen uses photographs and documents to examine and illustrate the recovered stories of representative but often overlooked women. This comprehensive volume brings a deeper understanding of the state's history through the stories of individual women and the broader developments that shaped their lives. Arthur's Home
