Springlore In Virginia:

Ladies and Gentlemen on Display Charlene M. Boyer Lewis, 2001 Written as a dissertation in history at the U of Virginia this study recreates the societal mores displayed at summer resorts at Virginia Springs from 1790 1860 as this was recorded in the letters and other archives of families who sojourned there Lewis history Widener U suggests that her history provides a new insight into plantation society by recording responses to unusual events and lack of routine She supplements the account with some analysis of the sources for the romantic and idealistic views of this culture Annotation copyrighted by Book News Inc Portland OR Springlore in Virginia Marshall William Fishwick, 1978 Springs of West Virginia Jane S. McColloch, 1986 Healing Holidays Harish Naraindas, Cristiana Bastos, 2016-03-22 This volume on medical tourism includes contributions by anthropologists and historians on a variety of health seeking modes of travel and leisure It brings together analyses of recent trends of medical tourism such as underinsured middle class Americans traveling to India for surgery pious Middle Eastern couples seeking assisted reproduction outside their borders or consumers of the exotic in search of alternative healing with analyses of the centuries old Euro American tradition of traveling to spas Rather than seeing these two forms of medical travel as being disparate the book demonstrates that as noted in the introduction what makes patients itinerant in both the old and new kind of medical travel is either a perceived shortage or constraint at home or the sense of having reached a particular kind of therapeutic impasse with the two often so intertwined that it is difficult to tell them apart The constraint may stem from things as diverse as religious injunctions legal hurdles social approbation or seasonal affliction and the shortage can range from a lack of privacy of insurance technology competence or enough therapeutic resources that can address issues and conditions that patients have If these two intertwined strands are responsible for most medical tourism then which locales seem to have therapeutic resources are those that are either natural in the form of water or climate legal in the form of a culture that does not stigmatise patients or technological and professional in the form of tests equipment or expertise unavailable or affordable at home or in the form of novel therapeutic possibilities that promise to resolve irresolvable issues This book was originally published as a special issue of Anthropology Medicine Music for Hire Katherine K. Preston, 1983 Healing Waters Loring Bullard, 2004 Missouri's mineral springs and resorts played a vital role in the social and economic development of the state In Healing Waters Loring Bullard delves into the long history of these springs and spas concentrating particularly on the use and development of the mineral springs from 1800 to about the 1930s During this period there were at least eighty sites in the state that could be described as resorts Because so many people were drawn to the springs by their faith in the healing virtues of the springwater towns were frequently founded at the mineral springs These places fought hard to capture the attention of Missourians who were seeking better health relaxation or good times in the late 1800s and early 1900s Bullard first examines the development of mineral water resorts in Europe from ancient times early spa traditions in America and Missouri's frontier spas He then discusses the establishment of saltworks at the state's saline springs and the importance of the early salt trade the brisk business that grew around the bottling of mineral waters the use and development of mineralized groundwater resources the geologic and biologic factors that create Missouri's mineral waters and public and professional belief in the curative values of mineral waters Healing Waters also traces the demise of Missouri's mineral water resorts and towns Well into the twentieth century when modern medicine had seemingly taken hold many physicians and scientists continued to proclaim the medicinal virtues of mineral waters However by the second quarter of the twentieth century medical science and popular opinion had discounted the immediate medical usefulness of mineral waters As advances were made in microbiology and biochemistry and with the inherent promise of drug cures orthodox medicine began to turn a cold shoulder on mineral water treatments Spa treatments with their long regimens also did not fit well with the increasingly fast paced lifestyles of the public By visiting the sites gathering local historical accounts interviewing local citizens and photographing remaining artifacts Bullard has done a masterful job in providing the answers to why these vibrant social centers came to be and why they faded

Lost Virginia Bryan Clark Green, Calder Loth, William Meade Stith Rasmussen, 2001 Literally hundreds of Virginia buildings of architectural or historical interest have vanished Most were demolished or burned while others were abandoned as populations and needs shifted The consequence is that important models of architectural accomplishment and key symbols of human aspiration and achievement have disappeared and are largely forgotten Lost Virginia is an effort to document and reconstruct the appearance of Virginia architecture in earlier times when the nation's destiny and history were intimately tied to the Old Dominion's landscape and buildings It seeks to recover at least on paper an impression of our lost architectural heritage Organized into categories of domestic civic religious and commercial buildings the more than three hundred vanished structures illustrated within include slave pens in Alexandria George Washington's singular sixteen sided barn a one room schoolhouse in Greene County and the 18th century Valley homes long mistaken for forts of German speaking settlers Soldiers in both blue and gray tramped by the now lost Rockingham County courthouse and a cathedral like federal post office in Roanoke joins Rockbridge County's fantastic Alleghany Hotel on the list of exceptional but short lived buildings Also documented are creations like Frank Lloyd Wright's Larkin Company Pavilion destroyed just months after it had been erected for the Jamestown Tercentennial Exhibition and the Thomas Jefferson designed Barboursville in Orange County jacket
