Spy Sub Roger C Dunham,2015-02-15 Spy Sub is the acclaimed story of the secret mission by the USS Viperfish to find a lost Soviet submarine armed with nuclear missiles in the great depths of the Pacific Ocean This mission is still classified by the U S Department of Defense nearly 50 years after the event Moving silently beneath the Soviet ships searching on the surface the nuclear submarine hunt was so secretive that even the men on the vessel never knew the object of their search The brave exploits of these sailors and their commanding officer recount one of the greatest undersea searches in naval history The failures the near catastrophes and the challenges are described in personal detail The story of how these men brought critical information to President Lyndon Johnson is a saga like none other in the annals of submarine exploits

Spy Ships Norman Polmar, Lee J. Mathers,2023-07 Almost from the first days of seafaring men have used ships for spying and intelligence collection Since early in the twentieth century with the technological advancements of radio and radar the U S Navy and other government agencies and many other navies have used increasingly specialized ships and submarines to ferret out the secrets of other nations The United States and the Soviet Union Russia have been the leaders in those efforts especially during the forty five years of the Cold War But as Norman Polmar and Lee J Mathers reveal so has China which has become a major maritime power in the twenty first century with special interests in the South China Sea and with increasing hostility toward the United States Through extensive meticulous research and through the lens of such notorious spy ship events as the Israeli attack on the USS Liberty the North Korean capture of the USS Pueblo and the U S Central Intelligence Agency s success in clandestinely salvaging part of a Soviet submarine with the Hughes Glomar Explorer Spy Ships is a fascinating and valuable resource for understanding maritime intelligence collection and what we have learned from it

Project Azorian Norman C Polmar, Michael White,2012-09-15 In early August 1974 despite incredible risks and after six years of secret preparations the CIA attempted to salvage the sunken Soviet ballistic missile submarine K 129 from the depths of the North Pacific Ocean The audacious effort was undertaken with the cover of an undersea mining operation sponsored by eccentric billionaire Howard Hughes Azorian incorrectly identified as Project Jennifer by the press was the most ambitious ocean engineering endeavor attempted by man Following the accidental sinking of a Soviet missile submarine in March 1968 U S intelligence agencies were able to determine the precise location and to develop a means of raising the submarine from a depth of 16 400 feet The remarkable salvage effort of the K 129 which contained nuclear armed torpedoes and one nuclear tipped missile as well as crypto equipment was conducted with Soviet naval ships a few hundred yards from the lift ship the Hughes Glomar Explorer The book is based in part on the research for Michael White documentary film Azorian The Raising of the K 129 released in late 2009 The research for the book and the documentary forced the CIA to

The New Face of War Bruce D. Berkowitz, 2010-05-11 As American and coalition troops fight the first battles of this new century from Afghanistan to Yemen to the Philippines to Iraq they do so in ways never before seen Until recently information war was but one piece of a puzzle more than a sideshow in war but far less than the sum total of the game Today however we find information war revolutionizing combat from top to bottom Gone are the advantages of fortified positions nothing is impregnable any longer Gone is the reason to create an overwhelming mass of troops now troop concentrations merely present easier targets Instead stealth swarming and zapping precision strikes on individuals or equipment are the order of the day based on superior information and lightning fast decision making In many ways modern warfare is information warfare Bruce Berkowitz's explanation of how information war revolutionized combat and what it means for our soldiers could not be better timed As Western forces wage war against terrorists and their supporters in actions large and small on several continents The New Face of War explains how they fight and how they will win or lose There are four key dynamics to the new warfare asymmetric threats in which even the strongest armies may suffer from at least one Achilles heel information technology competition in which advantages in computers and communications are crucial the race of decision cycles in which the first opponent to process and react to information effectively is almost certain to win and network organization in which fluid arrays of combat forces can spontaneously organize in multiple ways to fight any given opponent at any time America's use of networked elite ground forces in combination with precision guided bombing from manned and unmanned flyers turned Afghanistan from a Soviet graveyard into a lopsided field of American victory Yet we are not invulnerable and the same technology that we used in Kuwait in 1991 is now available to anyone with a credit card and access to the Internet Al Qaeda is adept in the new model of war and has searched long and hard for weaknesses in our defenses Will we be able to stay ahead of its thinking In Iraq Saddam's army is in no position to defeat its enemies but could it defend Baghdad As the world anxiously considers these and other questions of modern war Bruce Berkowitz offers many answers and a framework for understanding combat that will never again resemble the days of massive marches on fortress
