Contemporary Issues in Ethics and Information Technology Schultz, Robert A., 2005-11-30 This book uses general ethical principles as a basis for solutions to solving ethical problems in information technology use within organizations Provided by publisher

Contemporary Issues in Politics & International Relations Nesrin Kenar, 2021-12-26 Conflict is a phenomenon as old as human history Although the actors and reasons have changed conflicts have occurred in every period of history In the pre Cold War era conflicts in the international system were experienced between states The conflicts during the Cold War mainly were interstate conflicts arising from the rivalry between the two blocs In this period it was expected that the threat to the security of a state would come from outside the borders of the state and from other states For this reason all the regulations made by the League of Nations which was established at the end of the First World War and the United Nations which was established after the Second World War to protect international peace and security included the measures to be taken against the attack or threat of attack by one state against another state However the developments that took place right after the end of the Cold War confirmed that the risk of interstate conflict decreased and new security threats emerged in this period The conflicts that emerged in the post Cold War period were separatist conflicts due to ethnic and religious reasons such as the former Yugoslavia and Georgia or intra border conflicts that occurred for other reasons such as in Syria Upon the inadequacy of international organizations and international law to intervene in intra border conflicts the concept of security was redefined and a transformation from the security of the state to the security of the individual took place New security threats such as environmental security human security food security terrorism weapons of mass destruction and pandemics have been identified One of the reasons for the decrease in conflicts between states in the post Cold War period is that states mostly use soft power instead of military force in achieving their foreign policy goals The structure of the international system is also a dynamic that affects conflicts After the end of the bipolar system the transformation of the international system is not yet complete One of the most critical problems in today's world is the competition and struggle between states to become the future superpower While the US wants the current status quo to continue China is trying to change the status quo in its favour The European Union is to become the dominant power in the international system after its transformation in the post Cold War period

Lee,2006-11-22 Just war theory is the traditional approach taken to questions of the morality of war but war today is far from traditional War has been deeply affected in recent years by a variety of social and technological developments in areas such as international terrorism campaigns of genocide and ethnic cleansing the global human rights movement economic globalization and military technology This book asks whether just war theory is adequate to the challenges these developments pose Just war theory provides rules for determining when it is justified to fight a war But some have argued that the nature of contemporary war makes these rules obsolete For example genocidal and aggressive regimes may require the use of military force that is not strictly in self defense as just war theory requires In addition the theory provides rules for determining what the limits are on justified conduct in war But the random violence of terrorism and the deliberately inflicted violence of torture seem endemic to our age yet take us beyond the limits set by these rules of conduct in war By carefully examining the phenomena of intervention terrorism and torture from a number of different perspectives the essays in this book explore this set of issues with insight and clarity     Contemporary Challenges for Agile Project Management
