A Place in the Sun Sean Mills, 2016-02-01 What is the relationship between migration and politics in Quebec How did French Canadians activities in the global south influence future debates about migration and Quebec society How did migrants in turn shape debates about language class nationalism and sexuality A Place in the Sun explores these questions through overlapping histories of Quebec and Haiti From the 1930s to the 1950s French Canadian and Haitian cultural and political elites developed close intellectual bonds and large numbers of French Canadian missionaries began working in the country Through these encounters French Canadian intellectual and religious figures developed an image of Haiti that would circulate widely throughout Quebec and have ongoing cultural ramifications After first exploring French Canadian views of Haiti Sean Mills reverses the perspective by looking at the many ways that Haitian migrants intervened in and shaped Quebec society As the most significant group seen to integrate into francophone Quebec Haitian migrants introduced new perspectives into a changing public sphere during decades of political turbulence By turning his attention to the ideas and activities of Haitian taxi drivers exiled priests aspiring authors dissident intellectuals and feminist activists Mills reconsiders the historical actors of Quebec intellectual and political life and challenges the traditional tendency to view migrants as peripheral to Quebec history Ranging from political economy to discussions about sexuality A Place in the Sun demonstrates the ways in which Haitian migrants opened new debates exposed new tensions and forever altered Quebec society
