Women and the White Man's God Myra Rutherdale, 2007-10-01 Between 1860 and 1940 Anglican missionaries were very active in northern British Columbia Yukon and the Northwest Territories To date histories of this mission work have largely focused on men while the activities of women either as missionary wives or as missionaries in their own right have been seen as peripheral at best if not completely overlooked Based on diaries letters and mission correspondence Women and the White Man's God is the first comprehensive examination of women's roles in northern domestic missions The status of women in the Anglican Church gender relations in the mission field and encounters between Aboriginals and missionaries are carefully scrutinized Arguing that the mission encounter challenged colonial hierarchies Rutherdale expands our understanding of colonization at the intersection of gender race and religion This book is a critical addition to scholarship in women s Canadian Native and religious studies and complements a growing body of literature on gender and empire in Canada and elsewhere England and the Crusades, 1095-1588 Christopher Tyerman,1996-12-15 Drawing on a wide range of archival chronicle and literary evidence Tyerman brings to life the royal personalities foreign policy political intrigue taxation and fundraising and the crusading ethos that gripped England for hundreds of years Amazon Letters from the East Malcolm Barber,Keith Bate,2016-05-06 No written source is entirely without literary artifice but the letters sent from Asia Minor Syria and Palestine in the high middle ages come closest to recording the real feelings of those who lived in and visited the crusader states They are not of course reflective pieces but they do convey the immediacy of circumstances which were frequently dramatic and often life threatening Those settled in the East faced crises all the time while crusaders and pilgrims knew they were experiencing defining moments in their lives There are accounts of all the great events from the triumph of the capture of Jerusalem in 1099 to the disasters of Hattin in 1187 and the loss of Acre in 1291 These had an impact on the lives of all Latin Christians but at the same time individuals felt impelled to describe both their own personal achievements and disappointments and the wonders and horrors of what they had seen Moreover the representatives of the military and monastic orders used letters as a means of maintaining contact with the western houses providing information about the working of religious orders not found elsewhere Some of the letters translated here are famous others hardly known but all offer unique insight into the minds of those who took part in the crusading movement Letters from the East Mr Keith Bate,Professor Malcolm Barber,2013-07-28 This volume presents translations of a selection of the letters sent by crusaders and pilgrims from Asia Minor Syria and Palestine There are accounts of all the great events from the triumph of the capture of Jerusalem in 1099 to the disasters of Hattin in 1187 and the loss of Acre in 1291 They convey the immediacy of circumstances which were frequently dramatic and often life threatening and show us the feelings of those who lived in and visited the crusader states Some of the letters translated here are famous others hardly known but all offer unique insight into the minds of those who took part in the crusading movement
